In a ceremony without fanfare today, Dr. Albert Schweitzer world-famed French medical missionary, scholar and musician received the Order of Merit from Queen Elizabeth in Buckingham Palace. The award for "eminent men and women" is worn by only one other non-Briton, President Eisenhower.

Chicago Hunts Slayer of Boys

Brutal Murder of Three Lads
One of Worst in City's History

UP and AP Dispatches

CHICAGO—A giant manhunt covered Chicago today for the sex maniac or teen-aged hoodlums who strangled three young boys and left their nude bodies stacked like cordwood in a ditch.

The mangled bodies of the victims, three "wonderful" home-loving boys, lay in the county morgue.

John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton Jr., 11, had been strangled by hand. Their friend, 13-year-old Robert Peterson, had been viciously beaten on the head and strangled with a tie or rope.

The clothes of all three boys had been ripped from them and marks showed their eyes, mouths and hands had been taped. An autopsy has revealed they weren't sexually assaulted.

All three victims were clean-cut youngsters with close-cropped hair, who dressed neatly in jeans and jackets with emblems proclaiming that they were baseball fans of Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs.

Search for Sex Maniac

A man identified as an unemployed school teacher was held by police for questioning early today after he was named in an anonymous telephone call. The man lives five blocks from the Schuessler home, but police said he denied any connection with the murder and offered to take a lie test.

Chicago police, leaning towards the sex maniac theory, also searched for a middle-aged man who took two teen-aged boys for a ride Sunday night after meeting them in a bowling alley.

It was by far one of the worst crimes in Chicago's history. The only comparable cases were the murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb almost 30 years ago and the slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan by William Helms in 1946. But those murders only claimed single victims—this time it was three.

Bodies Piled Like Firewood

The boys' bodies were found shortly after noon Tuesday, piled on top of each other in a forest preserve ditch near a parking lot. They had apparently been killed shortly after they were last seen in a bowling alley Sunday night.

A small army of city and county policemen searched for clues in Robinson's woods, located outside the city's northwest limits, through the night and into the early morning hours. The hunt intensified at daybreak, with 100 officers, stationed only four or five feet apart, moving through the brushland. Guards and road blocks isolated the area.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron called the killings "the work of a madman" or a gang of older boys. He theorized from marks and dirt on the bodies that the boys were held captive in "some filthy place," bound and gagged with strips of adhesive tape and then dumped in the forest preserve.

The oldest boy had been slashed across the head 15 times with what appeared to have been an axe or a hunting knife.

Wheat Loans Authorized By Cabinet

1951 System Revived
Effective Nov. 15

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe today announced that government-guaranteed loans will be made available to western grain farmers through the banks starting about Nov. 15.

Mr. Howe said negotiations with the banks now are under way to make lending arrangements similar to those in 1951, the last time the government backed loans to producers with farm-held grain used as security.

When arrangements have been completed, a further detailed announcement will be made, he said.

Mr. Howe's announcement followed a cabinet meeting where ministers discussed the urgency of providing western grain farmers with much-needed cash and agreed to guarantee bank loans on farm-held grain.

MAXIMUM OF $1,000

Under the 1951 federal legislation, farmers were able to borrow up to a maximum of $1,000 each with unthreshed grain on their farms as security. The government guaranteed repayment of 25 per cent of the loan, placing a ceiling of $20,000,000 on the total loans which could be made under the scheme. The interest rate was 5 1/2 per cent.

Farmers actually borrowed only $625,000, with some complaining that the interest rate was too high and that they experienced difficulty with the banks in negotiating these loans. Only about 1,500 farmers borrowed under the scheme.

APPEALED FOR AID

A prairie delegation, headed by the agriculture ministers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, appealed to Mr. St. Laurent on Oct. 11 for federal assistance to western farmers unable to market huge quantities of grain still on their farms.

They argued that interest rates should be reduced, if not eliminated, if it were decided to revive the 1951 bank-loan system.

The delegation said that unless farmers are able to get some cash soon the prairie economy may be hurt.

Calling such a conference would cause some delay in the establishment of the agency, Pastore said, but "in the interest of launching the agency with as wide support as possible, we believe that some sacrifice of time would be justified."

U.S. to Call 84 UN Nations To Atoms Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States announced plans today to call an 84-nation conference to make final plans for an international agency to govern the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.) told the United Nations main political committee that the United States and the other original sponsors of the "atoms-for-peace" program first suggested by President Eisenhower in 1953 had revised a draft resolution to provide for such a conference.

Pastore told the 60-nation committee that no comments on the draft statute would be rejected "without careful consideration." He said the sponsoring governments would be willing to take a second step "to invite all the members of the U.N. or of the specialized agencies (84 in all) to a conference on the final text of the statute of the agency."

DECISIVE MOMENT?

Princess Faces Church Primate

LONDON (AP)—The unfolding romance of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend slowly brings a new figure toward the centre of the stage—a clergyman of stern principle and dry wit.

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, becomes a part of this scene of royal romance by the nature of his ecclesiastical office.

As the senior prelate of the Anglican Church, the archbishop must protect the rules and traditions of that church. And one paramount fact looms above all others—the church frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons while the two parties are still alive. And Townsend, the handsome fighter pilot hero of the Battle of Britain, has been divorced.

This fact could place the princess and the 68-year-old archbishop in opposite camps.

cheerful and there is a definite twinkle in his eyes.

CANT COMPROMISE

Many people regard him as one of the most humorous after-dinner speakers in England.

In a recent speech he emphasized religious and moral considerations, and not personal desires, should rule the lives of young people. He attacked the theory "that what people desire, they have the right to have."

DELICATE BALANCE

This ancient realm consists in a very real sense of a delicate balance of the Crown, the church and Parliament.

Royal duty today separated Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend for the first day since his arrival here last Wednesday from his diplomatic post in Brussels.

The petite princess flew to Wiltshire this morning to present new colors to an infantry battalion of which she is colonel-in-chief.

Emergency Budget

British Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler will shortly place before the House of Commons an emergency budget containing provisions designed to halt the inflation that menaces the nation's economy. (See Page 2.)

Premium Loss Seen Aiding Export Trade

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar dropped to par with the American dollar here today, the first time the two currencies have been of equal value since early in 1952.

The Canadian dollar, which had reached its highest point in recent years during August, 1953, when it was quoted in trading here at a premium of 45/16 cents over the U.S. dollar, has been descending in recent months. For the last few weeks it has been less than a cent higher than the U.S. dollar.

U.S. CASHING IN?

Reason given for the decline has been that some United States investors have been cashing in their Canadian holdings and switching to American stocks and bonds.

The reduction in the value of Canadian currency in terms of U.S. money has been welcomed by Canadian exporters whose products thus cost less on world markets. A par dollar is of help in competing with the output of other countries.

IMPORTS COST MORE

For importers the premium dollar worked to advantage. It meant Canadians could buy for less.

Now that the dollar is back at par, the importer will have to pay a little more in Canadian funds for his goods.

Eventually the rise in the importer's bill could seep down to the Canadian consumer. That might cause a slight boost in living costs.

PEGGED DURING WAR

From the beginning of the Second World War to Sept. 30, 1950, the Canadian dollar was pegged at 90 cents U.S. But after the war currency controls in Canada were lifted and the price rose to 95 cents where it remained until December, 1951.

At that time U.S. capital began an influx into Canada and on Jan. 22, 1952, the Canadian dollar reached parity with the U.S. for the first time in 13 years.

The equal status was short-lived and later in 1952 the Canadian dollar climbed again until two years ago when it began slipping back from the recent high mark of 4 5/16 cents premium over U.S. currency.

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Six $6,000 in cash, also part of the thousand dollars in tax money was listed as missing today as police attempted to pick up the trail of a city hall employee who left town in a chartered aircraft.

Sought for questioning was Jack O'Neill, 28-year-old assistant accountant who, police said, set out to deposit tax receipts at the bank Tuesday but hired a plane instead.

City cheques totalling $41,000 were found in a parked car which police said belonged to O'Neill. Kelowna comptroller Doug Herbert said another

Wilson Plans 68,000 Cut In Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Wilson said Tuesday he hopes to cut 68,000 civilian workers from the defence department payroll in order to hold military spending to $34,500,000,000 in this fiscal year.

Wilson told a press conference he had given the armed forces a "general guideline" for savings in the year which ends next June 30. It contemplates that by that date the 68,000 civilian workers would be dropped to bring the total of civilian employees to about 1,087,000.

YOUR BABY'S WOOLIES SO SAFE, SOFT IN FRIG COLD WATER SOAP

LONDON (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler will present a special budget next Wednesday in his drive to halt inflation, it was announced tonight.

The budget will be brought in a day after Parliament reconvenes from its summer recess.

Ordinarily the chancellor presents one budget a year—usually in April. The last emergency autumn budget was presented by the late Sir Stafford Cripps in 1947.

Butler said earlier today he was determined "to establish the foundations of sterling so fast that it cannot be moved." He made the statement at a meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

With full employment Britons have been on a buying spree. Consumption has reached a record high level. Sales of such things as television sets, refrigerators and new automobiles have rocketed. Previous moves by Butler to tighten up consumer credit have slowed but not stemmed this trend. All this has given the country a surface appearance of record prosperity. But economic strains have appeared under the surface. The industry of the nation is being urged to sell more and more goods abroad to pay for the vital imports of raw materials.

During September Britain's vital gold and dollar reserves dropped $112,000,000. That loss brought the reserves down to $2,345,000,000—lowest level in 2½ years.

From recent statements by Butler and other ministers it appears likely the government will boost the sales taxes on cars and some household goods, cut subsidies on housing and sharply trim national and local government expenditure by reducing spending on such things as roads and schools.

NEW YORK (UP)—Distance swimmer Florence Chadwick returned from England today with her name on the woman's cross channel record and a determination to bring the Lake Ontario record to the United States.

Miss Chadwick, who failed this summer to make a round trip channel crossing, said she still thinks it "is possible, and I think I can make it." But she said she didn't know when she'd try.

First on her list for the next swimming season, she said, is the attempt to beat the Youngstown, N.Y., Toronto record set by Canadian swimmer Marilyn Bell.

Missing 6 Days in Rugged North B.C., Five Men Found

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Five men, missing for six days in the wilderness of northwestern British Columbia, were found safe Tuesday.

Five members of a seismographic crew were located at a tiny, snowdriven camp near Atlin, in the northwestern corner of the province.

Resting in hospital at Whitehorse, Y.T., are Glenn Hammerstrom, Regina; Jean Yves Salau, Montreal; George Racz and Alex Steinbach, both of Hamilton, Ont.; and John Coppens, whose home town is not known.

Dr. E. F. Morrow, who treated the five seismographic crew members in hospital at Whitehorse, Y.T., said by telephone they were in good condition and would be released shortly.

The men became lost on a 16-mile trek from Nanonake river to Sloko lake while on a survey in connection with a giant hydro and smelting project proposed for the area 1,000 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Capture of 'Nuclear Ghost' Confirms Atom-Nucleus Theories

WASHINGTON (UP)—Atomic researchers have proved the existence of anti-protons, particles of matter long believed theoretically to exist but never before isolated.

Scientists captured the "nuclear ghost" at the Atomic Energy Commission's radiation laboratory at Berkeley. They did so with the university's $9,500,000 bevatron, the world's most powerful atom smasher, in what was called "one of the classical experiments of nuclear physics."

The anti-proton is the negative version of a proton, one of the fundamental particles of an atom's nucleus. It is of the same mass as the proton but of a different charge.

The AEC said the anti-proton is "born" outside an atom's nucleus following some "high energy nuclear event".

"The discovery does not modify the model of the atomic nucleus," the AEC said. "Rather it reinforces and solidifies current theory. This elimination of uncertainty about one of the cornerstones of nuclear theory is one of the discovery's most valuable features."

Until the bevatron was built, there was no way to create a nuclear bombardment of sufficient energy to capture the elusive "ghost".

Arson Hinted In Mainland School Fire

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Arson was suspected in a fire that damaged an outside wall of a two-room school and threatened a new four-room structure here Tuesday.

Quick action of a Surrey district school teacher and co-operation of residents saved the 40-year-old Horth Road school after a blaze broke out in a shed formerly used to store fuel.

Robert I. Kennett of Vancouver, had been marking papers in his classroom in the new school when he decided to step outside for fresh air at 7.30 p.m.

By this time flames were leaping up a corner of the old school, although no one was in sight, he said.

Kennett summoned aid and two men attempted to beat out the flames with jackets, while a third drove one and a half miles to sound the alarm at the fire hall.

Persons first entering the empty shed reported smelling burning oil which led to the suspicion of arson.

Court Kills Montreal Law Closing Shops

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today unanimously ruled that a Montreal city by-law requiring stores to stay closed on certain Roman Catholic holy days is invalid.

The court, in a judgment read by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, granted the appeal of seven large Montreal retail stores which had challenged the by-law and the provincial statute on which it is based.

The ruling upset the decision of the Quebec Court of Appeals which had decided in a split three-to-two vote that the by-law and provincial statute were constitutional.

Indo-China Trucers Called by Pearson

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—External Affairs Minister Pearson has summoned to Singapore the heads of the Canadian delegations in the three Indo-Chinese truce control commissions for Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

They will meet here Saturday for day-long discussions on the Indo-China situation, a spokesman said tonight.

Pearson is currently attending the Colombo plan meeting here.

Pearson Fears 'Risky Role'

By C. E. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
SINGAPORE (CP)—Canada's external affairs minister said today that he is "not sure" his country desires to take on "the risky role of interpreter" as a bridge between Russia and the United States.

L. B. Pearson, here for the Colombo Plan conference after a visit to Russia, told the Singapore Rotary Club at a luncheon, that he had suggested while he was in the Soviet Union that Canada's geographic position should make it the "ham in the sandwich" between the U.S. and Russia.

To that, the Canadian minister continued, Deputy Premier L. M. Kaganovich suggested that a "bridge" would be a better description of the Canadian position.

"It certainly is a nice description," Pearson commented, "but I'm not sure Canada desires to take on the risky role of interpreter in this case."

TOUGH ASSIGNMENT

"I think we have some qualifications for explaining the American point of view to the Russians, and I once or twice had the opportunity to attempt this during my visit."

"But I doubt if many Canadians — not I certainly — feel qualified to explain Soviet policies, motives, tactics and actions to our American friends."

Later, talking to reporters, he recalled that he told Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow that Canada would be glad to try to be such a bridge, and that Molotov had reminded him that it would be a tough assignment.

RECOGNIZES DIFFICULTIES

Pearson said he had had no change of feeling about the matter — just the recognition that it would be a tough assignment and one perhaps needing more experience with the Russians.

The external affairs minister found himself much at home at the Rotary gathering so far from Ottawa, and told the luncheon that the beauty of Rotarianism is that it is so completely international.

Pearson said Canada has the closest relations for and trust in the U.S. He had come to Singapore by way of Moscow in the hope that "we can also have better relations with our northern neighbor."

The Royal Romance

"A WAY MUST BE FOUND," says our morning contemporary, to make it possible for Princess Margaret to marry Peter Townsend. Surely, says The Colonist, there is wit enough in the upper echelons of British affairs, to resolve conflicting elements so that the royal romance may "end in a manner that leaves no bitterness or heartache behind."

People who talk like this are doing so with their hearts and not their heads. "All the world loves a lover," it is true; and quite naturally the admirers of Princess Margaret wish for her a happy life. But does it lie in the way of her marriage to the divorced commoner? We think not.

A dispassionate objective viewer can only conclude that this marriage must be destined to end in "bitterness and heartache." There are three inescapable facts which the Princess must face:

If she persists in her desire to marry this man, the Princess cannot be married in the Anglican Church, of which she has been a devoted and understanding communicant, and whose precepts her sister, the Queen, is pledged to defend;

If she marries a commoner, she must renounce her succession to the throne and inevitably weaken the position of the monarchy, as has been so vividly demonstrated in the case of Edward Windsor;

Group Captain Townsend is literally old enough to be her father, a fact which induces increasing strains and tensions with the passing of the years.

The correct (though unpopular) view was admirably expressed by a retired Church of England priest, Canon C. T. Kirtland, when he said: "I think my feeling about the whole thing is one of profound sorrow. Here is somebody who is very dear to our hearts. Here she contemplates doing something which is deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

A noted writer recently pointed out, in an assessment of government, that our leaders were constantly confronted with two decisions—the hard one, and the easy one—and that most often they took the easy way, with resultant detriment to society.

In the case of these star-cross'd lovers, the course of duty is clear. Princess Margaret must make the hard decision. She should renounce Peter Townsend and thus preserve the honor of throne and church.

Trade Principles and U.S. Politics

MR. ADLAI STEVENSON, titular head of the Democratic party and probable presidential candidate in next year's U.S. elections, has visited Canada, has received an honorary degree from Queen's University and has discussed liberal political philosophy.

He appears to have expressed a viewpoint paralleling almost completely the Liberal Party doctrine followed in Canada for many years.

Phrased simply those principles are that Canada needs economic strength if it is to have the political strength required to preserve its sovereignty. And, secondly, that is achieves such economic strength through expanded trade with the United States.

Mr. Stevenson comes to Canada as a distinguished figure—a world figure—arguing the case which has been Canadian fact for years. When trade is heavy between the two countries, Canada is strong.

With recognized candour he notes that trading relations between the two have been "bedevilled by all the familiar restrictive devices of international commerce." And he might have said that such "bedevilling" has been more noticeable under previous Republican administrations in Washington than under the present, which has yielded somewhat to Mr. Eisenhower's persuasion to facilitate the flow of trade.

Granting these points, Mr. Stevenson still has a problem on which Canadians would like information. At present this country suffers, and suffers intensely, from the American system of farm surplus disposal and farm price supports which appear destined to create more surpluses.

The two major United States parties go into the presidential election next year with a thorough understanding of the need to corral the farm vote. To date the Democrats seem to believe that they can accomplish this purpose only by promising farmers more than the Republicans are now giving them and creating additional surpluses in the process.

Understanding the principles of freer trade, as he has so competently stated them at Queen's University, what does Mr. Stevenson propose to do?

What does the United States plan to do with further surpluses and what arrangements is it going to make during the GATT discussions?

Which leads to the final question: Would Democrats in power do any better to ease the problem in relation to Canada's trade?

Time to Budget for a Courthouse

IN THESE DAYS OF FINANCIAL fall planting, when seeds are being sown to germinate and sprout in next spring's provincial budget, it seems proper to remind the Government that Victoria needs a new courthouse—and has needed one for decades.

The suggestion is advanced now because provision can be made within the next few weeks or months for such a capital outlay. When the estimates are drafted and presented to the legislature, the possibility of inserting such an item in the expenditure columns is remote.

The arguments in favor of a new courthouse in Victoria are familiar. Mr. George Gregory, Liberal member for the city, Mrs. Lydia Arsen, and Mr. W. N. Chant, prior to his cabinet elevation, have reviewed them.

The present building is obsolete and unsatisfactory. Its facilities are limited and its general air is that of another century.

While edifices of modern design are rising in other parts of the province to house courts and allied offices—and while the relatively small town of Kelowna has been most recently blessed—it seems incongruous that the capital should be left with facilities so out of date.

The matter is one which should claim the immediate attention of Victoria's cabinet member, Mr. Chant, and the support of the Attorney-General who, in his professional capacity, can have few illusions about the adequacy of the grey stone pile on Bastion Street.

Victory for the Whoopers

CONSERVATIONISTS IN ALL fields will be happy to learn that the battle to prevent danger to a whooping crane sanctuary in south-east Texas has been won.

The nesting ground of the now rare bird—there are only 26 of them left in all the world—was near a U.S. air force bombing range. The air force sought to extend the danger zone of the range and it was feared that the noise of planes and bombing would drive the birds away and destroy all hope of increasing the species.

Will Somebody Pull the Plug?

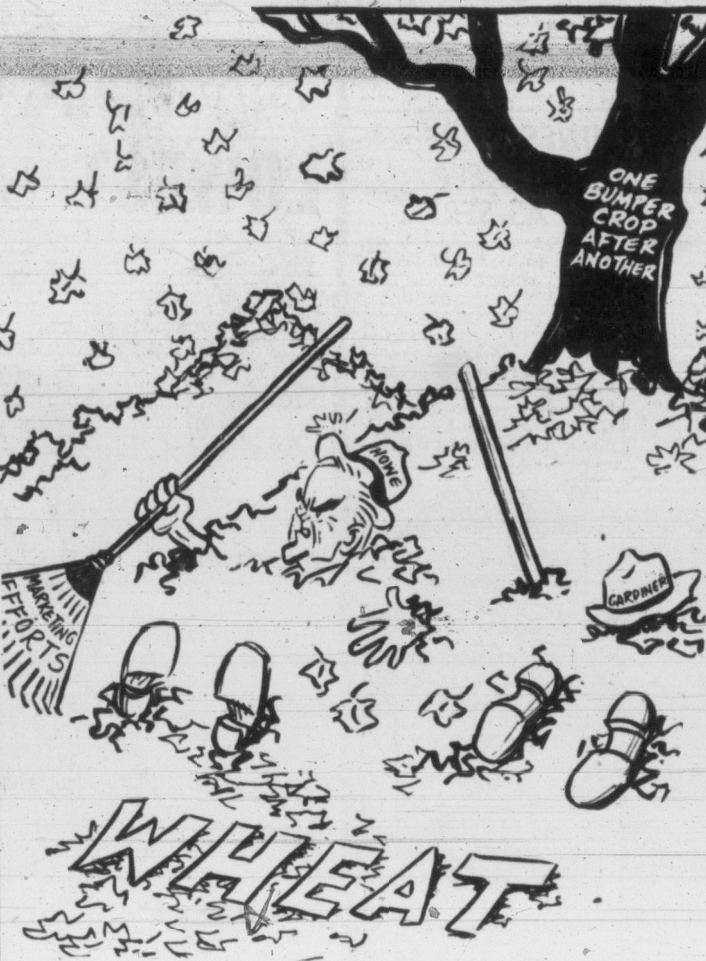

SOMEBODY SHOULD TAKE ROY Bergo aside, buy him a couple of plastic ducks and tell him to go right on playing in his bathtub, but as soon as he is his business, of course, if he wants to try to cross Juan de Fuca in his widely publicized enamelware—his business and that of the U.S. authorities.

If, however, he hopes to cash in on the attempt—if he actually said, "That's where my pot of gold is,

Those Canadians are crazy about the Strait"—the man should be given kindly warning.

Should Mr. Bergo make the crossing in a bathtub it would be suitable for Victoria to give him a washcloth and a towel. But Mr. Bergo can get such articles for the required number of box tops without causing any anxiety or inconvenience to those agencies, Canadian or U.S., whose concern is the safeguarding of life at sea.

Can't Keep Up With Them

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I HOPE you have planned next year's summer holiday by now, if not the one for 1957. Unless you act quickly and prudently, there is no hope of your getting a reservation at the X Fishing Camp. (Name on request.) It is usually booked solid for next year, along about now.

And to miss a holiday at X Fishing Camp is not only to miss some of the best Kamloops trout fishing in B.C., but it is to miss many a hearty laugh, and a few uneasy titers as well. And laughter is not so common that we can afford to go neglecting the stuff.

I have before me a prospectus or brochure telling me all about the place. The rules are simple but interesting. Since you pay only $9.00 per person per day, you bring your own towels. That's all right with me. It all balances in the end... for example, there is absolutely no charge for driving your fish to the railway station, if you and your luggage are going along with the fish. Incidentally, you have to be driven to and from the camp, for the road is passable only to jeeps. And this brings up an interesting little local rule. After you think you have checked out and you are being driven down to the railroad, you are still technically a guest of the lodge till you get off the road and onto the railroad, and you must pay accordingly.

If guest wants to leave camp after 5 p.m. a half a day will be charged extra, and if guest wants to leave camp in the morning a full day will be charged. Please note that half-days are classified as full days, whether on the road or at the lake. I'm not sure that I quite follow all this, but I am (as you might say) on the road towards doing so, and it sounds fascinating. Half days are full days and full days are half again, that's the main thing. And "one for the road" means half a one for the road, meaning a full one. And I dare say, one for his no.

All reservations must be confirmed with $100 deposit. Just a measly little old hundred bucks, as a mere token of good faith, you understand. If you make your reservation a year ahead, as many of the faithful do, maybe you get interest on your bond. And maybe (who knows?) not.

When you make your reservation, you must not only state how many of you are arriving, but state how many are men and how many are women. I offer a small prize for the best explanation of this unusual stipulation. But before entering my contest you must put up a bond and also say whether you choose oranges or lemons. The contest will be judged by an impartial jury. And before the sheriff locks the jury up each night, the jurymen must say how many of them are women.

HOBBY FOR YOUR OLD AGE

A FRIEND of mine owns a hardware store... not on Vancouver Island, so stop guessing. Into his store there frequently comes a dear little old lady who buys enormous quantities of paint. After about a year of her visits during which time she bought enough paint for three or four houses, my friend finally asked her (politely) what she did with all the paint. The dear little old lady explained that she used to be a music teacher, but she got too old for that. And needing to keep occupied, and to make a little money too, she began buying up old shacks, one at a time. She would slap a little paint on, or a lot, and immediately sell them again for more than she paid, on the strength of the fresh paint.

She said the shacks were really quite dreadful places. But once they were painted, they looked attractive. Attractive to a stranger, who hadn't studied the structures as intimately as she had. She knew every rotten old plank in them, for she did all the painting herself. And what a picture it makes... a dear little old lady, too old for teaching music, up on a roof making money with a paint brush.

And she does make money, too. She told my friend that in the first eight months of this year she sold three of her painted shacks for a total profit of $7,500. "Not bad wages for an amateur housepainter, is it, dear?" says she. As wages it's fine. Morally, I am not so sure. As a joke it's pretty good... unless the buyers are broke and innocent.

USEFULNESS

I HAVE here a letter from my old school (one of my old schools), asking me as an Old Boy to chip in on the costs of a new building. It has been suggested that the Old Boys might like to provide either the new furnace or the new roof. In either event, a suitable plaque would be put up. At first I was in favor of the roof. You can spell out various messages with different colored shingles, a branch of art and literature much neglected by architects. You could make the roof spell out LET'S RAISE THE ROOF OR OLD BOYS ARE BY NO MEANS AS SILLY AS THEY APPEAR TO THE YOUNG OR (more simply) just GOOD OLD BROCK, or something like that.

BUT after thinking it over carefully (which is a funny trick we old boys gradually fall into, thus driving the young wild with impatience) I have decided to vote for the Old Boys Memorial Furnace. One of the pleasantest memories of any school is always the furnace. It is associated with janitors, who are always cross and often peculiar (according to boys). It is amazing how many school memories are connected with crossness. And then, too, boys often hide things behind the school furnace... themselves, or food, or both. At one of my schools, the School Thief used to hide almost all his stolen goods there. No doubt to remind himself of hellfire.

Incidentally, I once moved from a school where the janitor was Mr. Inch to another school where the janitor was Mr. Blinch. And this did me a great deal of harm, for it preyed on my mind. It still does. Perhaps I'll feel better now it is down on paper. How about getting it down on a plaque? Two plaques.

MARKED FOR READING WHO'D BE A BEE

There has been much interesting scientific work done in recent years on the amount of labor done by the members of a hive in making honey. It's said that the entire field work of about three hundred bees is needed to fetch home enough nectar to make a single pound of honey. And if it was possible for one bee to do all the work—gathering, processing and storing away a pound of honey—she would need to work all day and every day for more than eight years. In doing it she would need to fly distances equal to more than twice round the earth at the Equator. Think of that the next time you spread a spoonful of honey on your bread.

—E. R. B. McHugh speaking on the BBC.

DENNIS THE MENACE

The Presidential Race

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

AS SOON as President Eisenhower is well enough to talk politics he will be urged by influential Republican party leaders to do two things. First, he will be urged to take himself out of the 1956 race as soon as possible, if he feels he must do so—and despite the good news from Denver, hardly anybody believes that he will run again. Second, the President will be urged to designate the candidate of his choice when he himself bows out, or shortly thereafter.

Joseph

As long as there is thought to be the faintest chance of his running the magic Eisenhower name will kill all other candidates, as surely as the fabled apple tree kills everything in its shade. Until the President unequivocally bows out, the whole candidate-picking machinery will be thrown into confusion, moreover, because every would-be delegate will fervently pledge himself to Eisenhower.

For such reasons the party managers, appalled at the thought of losing Eisenhower as a candidate, have nevertheless decided that, if it were done, 'twere well it were done quickly.

They hope the President will withdraw, if he must, by early January or even December, well before the primaries. They further hope that he will give the nod to his chosen heir, if not as soon as December or January, at least by early spring.

As Harold E. Stassen has said, "The man President Eisenhower wishes to have nominated will be nominated." Stassen is certainly right.

HIS WORD IS LAW

To a far greater extent than generally realized, the Republican party organization is now in the hands of men to whom Eisenhower's slightest word is law. To take one example, in 1952 most of the 48 state chairmen were Taft men. Now 37 of the 48 have been replaced with fervent Eisenhowerites, and the survivors are Eisenhower men too.

Add the President's enormous prestige, and it is almost impossible to imagine a situation in which a Republican convention will vote against his known wishes.

He is not expected to announce his choice formally, of course. He need only let it be known whom he favors, as President Theodore Roosevelt let it be known that he favored William Howard Taft. Then all serious opposition in the party to the President's candidate will almost certainly fade away, or at least go underground.

The political advantages in having the President choose, and choose early, are obvious. Present campaign plans, which it is too late to alter, were of course made on the assumption that the candidate would be Dwight D. Eisenhower. After a brief, late, heavily televised campaign, it was smugly believed, the President would be a shoo-in. But no one believes any other Republican candidate will be a shoo-in.

On the contrary, the Republican party managers privately admit that they are badly worried, above all by the evidence that many Middle Western farmers are turning against the party. Any Republican candidate whose name is not Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to need plenty of building up.

NEED BUILD-UP

Suppose that the President gives the nod to the man of his choice by March or April—say to Vice-President Richard Nixon, whom most of the organization men favor. Then Nixon will be almost certain of the nomination, despite his numerous collection of enemies. The Nixon build-up can then begin right away, carrying on right through to Election Day.

But suppose, instead, that the President makes no choice at all, publicly or privately. The build-up for the eventual candidate is then likely to take the form of the kind of bitter intra-party brawl, lasting all next spring and summer, which does a candidate the maximum of harm.

Such are the reasons why the President will be urged to choose his man, and choose him early. How the President will respond to the pressure to choose makes an interesting personal equation. The act of choosing will make him enemies almost automatically, and the President does not like to make enemies unnecessarily. The President also has a sense of what is historically fitting, and to designate the candidate would mean to risk reputation of his personal choice by the voters—an anticlimactic way of ending a fabulously successful public career.

Stewart

Those who know the President best are thus inclined to guess that he will remain above the battle, designating no candidate of his choice. In that case, the party battle the President will remain above may well turn into a battle royal. Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Challenges--But So Rewarding

By Air Vice-Marshal SIR PHILIP LIVINGSTON, KCB, CB, OFC.
(Extracts from the annual address to the Independent Schools Association of B.C.)

LEADERSHIP and discipline, although associated, are far from interchangeable words.

Leadership is regard for the welfare of others, especially those whose physical and mental equipment call for support in the uphill climb of living.

Without leadership no unit of whatever nature can remain stable and productive.

The greatest single factor in discipline is obedience to orders based on natural respect for those whose duty it is to exercise authority. As it takes all kinds to make a world, so is authority expressed by "all kinds"—sometimes a rather disheartening situation which tends however to reveal discipline at its best.

THREE WAYS

Through what procedures in a school curriculum can the desirable attributes be best achieved? I believe there are three ways only:

1. Watchful eyes looking always for the seed of natural leadership in the developing child and exercising care that these are given a chance to germinate in the soil of encouragement;
2. Through the medium of organized games, to which not enough attention is paid;
3. Through the medium of those movements which, whether we like it or not, must be accepted as essential elements in the structure and stature of any nation: (a) the Boy Scouts and (b) the Cadet Corps.

There is nothing whatever wrong with the youth or maiden of Canada. The blame for faults of attitude towards their country lies on the doorstep of governments and if the door is not opened by understanding hands, in the near future it will be smashed in by forces the very nature of which those in positions of responsibility are first to disclaim.

The harvest of natural resources upon which Canada so fortunately feeds has, through its lavishness, induced an atmosphere of complacency which is both unrealistic and dangerous.

When one has witnessed the appalling injury inflicted upon the major industrial centres of West Germany and comes to realize the supreme example of rehabilitation that has been brought about in 10 short years by solid purposeful stages, until that which appeared irreparably destroyed has become a serious challenge in the international scramble for trade; one must be excused a feeling of grave disquiet at the halting progress of unscarred Canada.

The art of leadership finds its expression in the earliest years and reaches maturity when, through some turn in events, the testing-time suddenly appears, often with the minimum of warning.

Leadership must not be confused with individualism, which is frequently the case in this country. It is this basic misconception which has produced a vast body of people whose limit of horizons may be summarized in the expression: "What's in it for me?"

If Canada is to survive and retain her independence, an era of rehabilitation must be established in which the pronoun "I" is replaced by the pronoun "We."

SUCCESS OR FAILURE

The success or failure of this inevitable challenge lies in great measure within the school boundaries and failure is unacceptable.

That great historian of today, Arthur Bryant, has expressed so much in so little by recording these words:

"I don't believe in historic determinism. What defines everything in history is individual will, prompted by individual faith and conscience."

May it be so with Canada—this land so full of challenges so rewarding of good endeavor.

STAGGERED SHOPPING

The only logical answer to a six-day shopping week is a five-day store opening week, six days to shop.

The stores to open any of the five days from Monday to Saturday. The intention of remaining open on certain days and closed on others should be made known at the beginning of each licence year and adhered to by the store for the licence year.

For example: Store A open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and closed Saturday and Sunday.

Store B open Monday, Tuesday, closed Wednesday, open Thursday, Friday, Saturday, closed Sunday.

STOP--IT'S AMBER

I find that there are far too many motorists in Victoria proceeding through street intersections on the amber traffic lights to the common danger of pedestrians using the cross walk.

I beg to state that the amber light is not a "go" light but a caution or "stop" light. When the amber light is showing a motorist is compelled by law to stop at the front line of the intersection if able to do so in safety.

If the traffic lights change to amber when the motorist passes the front line and is in the intersection then the motorist may proceed through the intersection with caution.

A few prosecutions by the police would soon stop these offences.

BBC Facing Trying Times

LONDON—The other day after the trade shipping of a new movie I found myself among a group of film publicity men and it was only natural for me to ask them, "What effect is this new commercial TV going to have on you film people?"

Reburn

The man to whom I addressed the question shrugged his shoulders. "It just has novelty appeal right now," he said. "It's not really going to worry us."

That sounded fine, had it not been for the fact that just as he finished speaking a colleague rushed up to him and said: "Come on, Charlie, let's go—or we'll be late for that anti-television conference."

Now that commercial TV is getting into its stride here, there's no doubt about the fact that the cinema people as well as the BBC are worried. (Are the BBC worried? Last night I bumped into a BBC man and asked him how the organization felt about ITV. "Haven't had a chance to find out yet," he said. "Just got back from holiday today and found half the staff had committed suicide.") And they might well be worried, along with anyone else whose job it is to attract the public's attention in the entertainment world, because the people here have now embarked on a commercial television jag that is going to last, I feel, far beyond the novelty stage.

First big thing on ITV to really win their hearts is the fact that they have Chris Chataway giving them the news. Whoever among the commercial lads thought that one up, it's a master stroke. The public have found that besides being a brilliant runner who stirred their national pride he is—on the TV screen—a handsome, personable young man who unexpectedly handles the newscasting job like a veteran, telling you the news in an assured yet chatty way, instead of reading it drily through bifocals under a bald pate, which is what you get on BBC TV news. (As you've probably heard, the BBC have now attempted to retaliate by signing up Roger Bannister to do a series of sport talks.)

Next thing they've gone overboard for here is I Love Lucy, the first instalment of which laid them in the aisles or, rather on the living room floor.

Also, they find they're getting all the big stars, many of whom wouldn't bother with BBC television because of the ridiculously low fees. Take last night's viewing for instance. How's this for a line-up: Gracie Fields, Guy Mitchell, Tommy Trinder, Richard Greene, Roy Rogers, Donald Wolfitt, Lucille Ball, Liberace and Billy Graham. And while that was going on, what was BBC TV doing—an hour and a half play with no one well known in it, a ballet without any of the big name dancers, and Bob Hope being interviewed by Ed Murrow.

No wonder in our local pub where customers have the choice of the set being tuned to the BBC or ITV it has been tuned to ITV exclusively since it started and the publican tells me that not one person has asked to have it switched to the BBC, even for one program.

It's a sad commentary, when you think of it, that the BBC had 20 years of TV monopoly to build up its public and now nobody wants them.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Swelling of the Legs

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Scores of women ask me why their legs swell and why doctors cannot find the reason for this. The doctor says their heart, their kidneys, their blood, and the blood vessels in their legs are all right. In many of these cases, the expert says the swelling is due to lymphedema. That seldom helps the patient much because we doctors don't know exactly why some persons suffer from lymphedema and others do not.

The trouble would seem to be due to some congenital defect in the tiny vessels which carry the lymph, or fluid which runs through the tissues. In rare cases, lymphedema is so bad that the person has great big legs. So big that the disease is called elephantiasis. In some of these cases, surgeons operate to remove the excess tissue, and then to fit the skin back again onto the bare muscles. It is a difficult operation and not always a safe one because the wound is so large.

Fortunately, most persons with lymphedema have only annoyance from it. Many women get the swelling of the legs only at the time of menstruation, or during the summer heat, when they probably drink more water than they need. During menstruation, some women gain several pounds due to the accumulation of water in their body. Some of these women can help themselves by cutting down on the amount of salt taken and the amount of water drunk during the few days before menstruation.

"SHELTER FOOT"

Recently, at a luncheon, I sat next to my old friend, Dr. Irving S. Wright, who is one of the top blood-vessel experts in the United States. He told me that during the last war it was found that many of the persons who had to sit up all night in air-raid shelters, and especially those persons who sat in a beach chair with a rod in front that pressed on the back of the thighs, suffered from swollen legs. The condition came to be called "shelter-foot." Now, Dr. Wright has found that this type of swelling is noted by women who sit up all night in a train or automobile or bus or plane. It easily can be seen by its comes.

A good example of this disease was found in the case of a man who sat on top of a flag-pole for 52 days, 13 hours and 58 minutes, in order to break all previous records. After that, for a while, he was laid up in bed with swollen legs.

CLYNE REPORT ON MILK SUBMITTED TO CABINET

First draft of a "voluminous" report on a milk inquiry by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne has been received by the B.C. cabinet.

Agricultural Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Tuesday that copies will be released in about three weeks.

Mr. Justice Clyne was appointed as a one-man royal commission to study milk production and distribution, especially in regard to pricing. Producers had claimed costs deducted by distributors were reducing the returns to the farmer in spite of government controls on the producer level.

Canada Held Custody Of British Billions

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Canada became the custodian of billions of dollars in British gold and foreign securities shipped from the United Kingdom around the outbreak of the Second World War as Britain girded herself for a bitter battle to the death against Nazi Germany and the Axis.

British treasure trove was one of the best-kept secrets of the war.

EXPECTED INVASION

Expecting invasion by the Hitlerite forces Britain was determined to go down fighting desperately, but it took precautions to enable the fight to be carried on from this continent if the island fortress was eventually conquered. The British moved the bullion to prevent it falling into the hands of the Axis and at the same time to have it in North America to help pay for the war materials available from the "arsenals across the ocean."

The story emerged today when Pulitzer Prize winner Leland Stowe writing in a current issue of a digest magazine reported that the first shipment of gold arrived from Britain in Montreal on July 2, 1940. In that shipment there was a total of $500,000,000 in gold securities. Within three months a total of $7,500,000,000 had been transported across the submarine-infested ocean in warships and armed merchantmen, according to Mr. Stowe.

The loss of even one shipment would have been a bitter and costly blow to Britain, but the desperate gamble was won.

STORED IN BOXES

Bank of Canada officials at Ottawa declined to confirm the Lowe report. They explained that it involved "banker-client" relationships and was confidential.

Mink's Much Too Hot For Norah's Sitting

LONDON (AP)—Britain's annual automobile show opened today with Lady Norah Docker's latest whimsy—to nobody's surprise—stealing the spotlight.

The publicity-conscious Lady Norah, whose husband owns the big Daimler works, showed her new gold-plated coupe upholstered in six zebra skins.

"I decided zebra would be best," Lady Docker confided to reporters. "Mink is too hot to sit on."

Sir Bernard said the new toy cost £15,000. Other wise manufacturers showed few new models, concentrating instead on improving existing breeds.

Crusading Evangelist Frowns On 'Rock and Roll' Religion

By TONY DICKASON

The "rock and roll" type of religious behavior, exemplified by certain sects, is not truly Christian, a silver-tongued Irish evangelist said here today.

Emotionalism in religion is fine, said Rev. Robert Cunningham, as long as it's properly channeled. But emotionalism in religion often tends to become an end in itself and can constitute a real "danger" to an individual's sober and sensible relationship to God.

Rather than having a disturbing influence on personal characteristics, however, religion generally establishes a field of stability, said the rector of Vancouver's St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, here on an evangelical crusade.

Mr. Cunningham looks more like a benevolent boxer than an evangelist in the accepted term. His eyes don't flash fire and brimstone, they smile a bit humorously, and even tenderly when he speaks.

He's not a man to be easily or readily pushed about. The minister from Ireland stands six feet four inches, and admits under pressure to having been a boxer, soccer and rugby player, and to have indulged in swimming.

He fished here Monday morning near Sidney. "Caught a 12 pound coho," said the large man, face beaming in a broad Irish grin, hands extending to indicate fish size.

Mr. Cunningham, out here 12 months after years of pastoral labor among tough and turbulent Irish labor unions, Monday afternoon addressed Women's Missionary Society members of 21 United Churches of this area in the Metropolitan church.

He spoke on the emotional theme in religion, stating bluntly "if religion ends only in emotional flutters, it has failed in its function." More than an inner glow, it is a call to action, he said.

Close to 500 attentive women heard his address, delivered with striking parallels of everyday life to put across the spiritual points.

"Christian ideas must not remain locked up," he said, in his call to action, opposed to the mere enjoyment of religion for personal satisfaction.

Mr. Cunningham, who speaks with a soft and enjoyable brogue, indicated many of the personality ills of the world arise from lack of trust and faith in God. There is often little need for the medicine bottle "if we learn to relax and rest in Him."

He dragged Christian principles back from the ether and laid them on the laps of his listeners.

MAKE FIRST MOVE
Duty of Christians is to make the first move in solving both individual and national differences, he stated. "Christ's reign being right here . . . not in Moscow, or Berlin, or anywhere else."

Further: "Proclaim by lip and life the reality of God, and His kingdom will come into power."

Mr. Cunningham has strong views on today's music which at times includes somewhat puerile devotional lyrics with "hep" harmonies. He termed them "a travesty on religion. It's just syncopated jazz, another parading of the emotions."

Eastern religious outlooks, he said, were philosophies which had become faiths. To truly woo the east Christians must present the teeming populations there with strong faith to counteract their ideologies.

RESURGENCE

Mr. Cunningham sees a resurgence of religious interest "in the last three or four years . . . and not because of Billy Graham, necessarily."

Professional persons and student groups are becoming increasingly aware of the soundness of Christian principles in today's world, with the result the church, in its broad sense, "is less on the defensive."

This reawakening has been caused by persons sick of the disillusionment of materialism, he said.

The handsome preacher addresses the public each night at 7.30 through Friday at Metropolitan United, and in addition spoke Tuesday to the Victoria Kiwanis Club and was scheduled to speak to Victoria College students Wednesday, and at Oak Bay High School, Thursday.

At the meeting of WMS members Monday, the collection went towards missionary work.

There's a "temperamental" difference between addressing groups of men and women, he said. Preachers must adapt psychologically. Mr. Cunningham refused to discuss which is the better audience.

Mr. Cunningham told the Kiwanis club here Tuesday that Ireland is a land of deep cleavages, based on religious loyalties which have political ramifications.

"Unfortunately my friends in the Roman Catholic church in Eire are anti-British," he said, adding that he meant no offense by the statement.

The only force which can unite Ireland, he said, is dynamic New Testament Christianity.

of reference until November 1. Mr. D'Arcy is seeking re-instatement following his dismissal charge by the School Board for "impertinence and gross insubordination."

The school teacher was fired for letters addressed to John Gough, municipal inspector, which stated that school board promotions were "tailored and rigged."

The hearing first opened in August, but was later adjourned until today with the consent of both parties.

Tuesday the board met to continue with the hearing, but Mr. D'Arcy requested a further adjournment in order to acquaint his lawyer Alan Baker with his case. The school teacher was not represented by counsel at the August hearings.

Headingley Leave Plan Abandoned

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government has abandoned the idea of giving well-behaved prisoners at Headingley jail a 48-hour home leave each three months. Attorney-General Hryhorczuk indicated Tuesday.

The idea was the most radical advanced by a three-man committee which investigated causes of a riot at the jail last December. Mr. Hryhorczuk said a parole system under which well-behaved prisoners might be released before their sentence expires will probably be used instead of the ticket of leave idea.

He said he had not received permission from the federal government to allow its prisoners the 48-hour leave.

New Bank Job To Be Let In Few Days

Tuesday was the final day for receipt tenders for a new Royal Bank building which will arise where the B.C. Electric building is now being demolished.

R. R. Wilde, manager of the Douglas Street branch which will be re-located said the tenders are being received by the bank in Vancouver. Plans are prepared by the bank's Montreal architects although John Wade of Wade, Stockhill and Armour of Victoria has been named supervising architect here.

An announcement of who will build the estimated $200,000 structure is expected in a few days, he said.

Meantime demolition of the old building at Pandora and Douglas is almost completed, quietly and quickly. Workers, proud of the swift accident-free job complained at publicity given a fall of a section of wall last week which broke a section of the guard wall.

They said there was more dust than debris in the portion of the wall which pushed through to the street.

Red Maple 'Emblem' Rare Sight in City

By HUMPHRY DAVY

How many true red maple trees can you count in Victoria? Not many, according to Herbert Warren, city park administrator. The only street where there are red maples, which gave Canada its national emblem, is Chapman. There are a few of the trees in Beacon Hill Park.

Interest in the red maple which has the most vividly colored autumn foliage, was stimulated by an article which appeared in the Times Weekend magazine Saturday.

In the article, W. Ormiston Roy, Montreal landscape naturalist, chided Canadians for having neglected the red maple as an ornamental tree. He complained that the "emblem" tree is seldom seen in parks, along boulevards or in private gardens.

Since the article was written, some nurserymen have been besieged by inquiries for red maples, but they haven't had one in stock to sell. "They are the most difficult trees to obtain in Canada," he said.

Mr. Warren agreed with this. The red maple, he said, grows well in Victoria, but the chief difficulty is getting trees which have a good, red foliage.

"You see, the colors of the foliage vary in this species," he explained. "They have to be carefully selected for color."

Mr. Warren said the vine maple, a native tree which grows chiefly in the mainland and can now be seen in its full splendor, is equally as colorful. But this species, he said, did not make a good boulevard tree because it liked to be planted among or near other trees.

The maple trees mostly seen in Victoria, Mr. Warren said, are the Norway, an imported tree, and the broadleaf maple, a native species.

While the broadleaf does not turn red, Mr. Warren said, its golden foliage at this time of the year was attractive. Good specimens of this tree could be seen at Duncan and on some of the gulf islands.

This maple produced the largest leaf in British Columbia, he said. Some leaves are sometimes 16 inches long.

Produce Medical Records Court Orders Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the Vancouver General Hospital were criticized here Tuesday for delaying the trial of five men charged with attempted murder by declining to produce the medical records of the victim.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson instructed hospital authorities to have the medical records down to the courtroom in half an hour.

The records were produced. Charged with beating Thomas Kinna, admitted former drug addict, in the CNR yards here last June are: Robert Tremblay, 33; Lucien Mayer, 49; Marcel Frenette, 28, and James Margen, 28, all of Montreal; and Charles Tassot, 36, of Vancouver.

Marcel Goes Wandering

Goaltender Marcel Pelletier of Victoria Cougars left the door to his citadel wide open during this second-period action at Memorial Arena Tuesday night, but Chuck Holmes (8) of the visiting Edmonton Flyers failed to take advantage. Steve Hrymzak (2) of the Flyers, guarded by Cougars Bill Davidson (5) and Nelson Bulloch, had flicked a goalmouth pass that eluded both the sprawling Pelletier and Holmes. Watching the puck go into the corner is Victoria's Colin Kilburn, centre. Flyers, however, scored three times on Pelletier in the second period and twice more in the third to skate away with a 5-4 victory in the WHL encounter. (Times photo.)

Vancouver Gets 4,000 Grey Cup Grid Tickets

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union has allotted Vancouver 4,168 tickets for the Grey Cup football classic in Empire Stadium Nov. 26.

Don Mackenzie, president of the B. C. Lions of the Western Inter-provincial Football Union, announced the figure following a meeting of club directors Monday night.

Although temporary seats will bring the stadium's seating capacity to approximately 31,500 for the game, Mackenzie said Vancouver was fortunate in obtaining more than 4,000 tickets.

"For last year's game in Toronto," he said, "the Toronto allocation was only 1,270. We've done much better. In fact, we have been given more tickets than either of the clubs competing for the Grey Cup will receive."

Another 8,000 tickets will be issued for standing room at the north end of the stadium, Mackenzie said.

The 3,000 persons holding 520 memberships in the Lions will get first chance at the seat and standing room tickets, he added.

Greenberg To Buy Seal Club

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A deal by Hank Greenberg to buy the San Francisco Seals baseball club appeared in the bag today.

"We have reached a verbal agreement on the sale," the Cleveland Indians general manager said Tuesday night after conferring with Damon Miller, president of the Little Corporation, which controls the Seals franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

The offer made to Greenberg, Miller said, would be a $100,000 deal.

"Hank would have to assume a $50,000 bank note, pay off $30,000 still owed the Pacific Coast League, and purchase 100 per cent of the common stock, which is worth $20,000."

Greenberg said he expected to be president of the Seals club, but would remain in Cleveland with the American League club.

Medal Honors Shared In Victoria Club Golf

Mrs. J. Proctor and Mrs. S. Haynes shared silver division honors in the monthly medal competition at Victoria Golf Club with net 77s. Mrs. Proctor had a score of 90-13-77 and Mrs. Haynes 95-18-77.

Mrs. W. A. R. Hadley topped the bronze division with 89-19-70, which also good enough to give her the lead in the first round of the Benning Cup competition.

Second round of the Benning Cup will be played Nov. 1 in conjunction with the monthly medal.

LONDON—Yolande Pompey, Trinidad, knocked out Yvon Durelle, Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in light heavyweight.

Turpin's Fight Career Ends With Knockout by Canadian

LONDON (CP)—The boxing career of Randy Turpin of Britain came to an abrupt end Tuesday night as the former world middleweight champion was knocked out by hard-punching Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont.

Wallace dropped Turpin with a terrific right hand punch to the jaw in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-rounder in Harrington Arena.

Minutes later Turpin,

VANCOUVER GOLF PROS ADOPT CAUTIOUS MOOD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two golf officials here are enthusiastic, but at the same time cautious, over plans for a tentative fall tournament schedule on the Pacific Coast teeing off from Vancouver next September.

Ben Calk, president of the British Columbia PGA and professional at Langara club here, said he liked the idea, but warned:

"Weather is always a problem here. Such a tournament could hardly be scheduled later than September. There's always the problem of sponsorship. It's not too easy to find someone to underwrite that $15,000 to $20,000 in prize money."

Stan Leonard, former professional at the Marine Drive layout and the only active Vancouver Gold Trainers, said: "It's a good idea. I think we should definitely get behind it. But it's a gamble."

Smith Meets Carter In Title Bout Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wallace Bud Smith, a young fellow who has yet to cash in financially on his lightweight boxing crown, makes his first title defence tonight against former champion Jimmy Carter.

Smith won the championship from Carter, a New Yorker who is a three-time holder of the title, in a bout in Boston June 29.

The two sharp-punching Negroes will go 15 rounds or less in the Cincinnati Garden.

Carter generally was being rated a slight betting favorite to become the first four-time champion in the division. He already is the first three-time.

SAME GUARANTEE

Smith hasn't had a fight since he won the championship, so he hasn't had a pay day as title holder. And, even though he is the champ, his guarantee from promoter Sam Becker of $9,000 is exactly the same as that given Carter. They also are supposed to share equally in the television money.

The Cincinnati boxing commission has waived its mandatory eight-count knockdown rule and also said the scrap would not be stopped because of cuts. Carter suffered face cuts in the last fight that required 20 stitches to close. The referee will have nothing to say about who wins in the event the fight goes the distance. Three judges are used in Cincinnati.

Carter first won the championship from Ike Williams May 25, 1951. He lost it to Lauro Salas and Paddy Dénarco but regained it from them in rematches.

holder of the British and Empire light heavyweight title, announced his retirement from the ring.

The 26-year-old Wallace, unranked among the world light heavyweights, knocked Turpin to the canvas four times before he applied the final crusher midway through the fourth. Turpin tried to rise at the count of nine but couldn't make it.

The defeat killed plans for a world light heavyweight title match between champion Archie Moore and Turpin which has been proposed for London Jan. 10.

Shortly after the fight promoter Jack Solomons announced that he was trying to get four-ranked Yolande Pompey of Trinidad a crack at the title.

On the same card Tuesday night Pompey knocked out Canada's light heavyweight champion, Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in the seventh round of another scheduled 10.

'MOST HAPPY'

Toronto Would Welcome Return Of Cup Game

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto would be most happy to be host to the Grey Cup football game next year, Mayor Nathan Phillips said Tuesday.

The mayor of the city that had regularly been the scene of the Canadian football championship game until this year, was commenting on a statement by Sydney Haller, western Canada football commissioner, that Vancouver lacked adequate, first class accommodation to handle visitors. This year's game will be played in Vancouver.

"We'll have at least 4,000 more hotel rooms available by next Grey Cup time," Mayor Phillips said. "We certainly would welcome the Grey Cup back. We have no hard feelings because Vancouver has the game this year. We wish them luck."

The 1956 game is scheduled for eastern Canada but the site will not be determined until the Canadian Rugby Union's annual meeting next March.

FOUR GAMES, 14 POINTS

In those games, Marshall fired five goals and assisted on nine others for 14 points. In one game alone he counted three goals and five assists.

This is the third time Willie has been up with Leafs. If he is major-league material, he probably will not get a better chance to prove it. Leafs are in the cellar with a dismal one win and a tie in six games.

WATSON'S HOME DEBUT

The game tonight will mark Phil Watson's debut in New York as a Ranger coach. Although he is disappointed with the team's two week-end losses, Watson is nevertheless happy that his record equals the best starting road tour in the last nine years.

Watson figures part of the team's success is the work of centre Dave Creighton, a 20-goal man two seasons ago with Boston Bruins.

Creighton now leads New York scorers with a goal and five assists and is sixth in the NHL scoring race. Watson has been using the centre between left winger Danny Lewicki and Andy Heberton, put from Victoria Cougars of the Western League.

Bill Chadwick, who spent 14 years as an NHL referee, will be presented with a silver star before the game by league president Clarence Campbell. Chadwick hung up his whistle at the end of last season in favor of a general manager's job with a New York country club.

Cougars Not Too Neat In Slim Loss to Flyers

Goals Come Too Easily To Suit Olson

Edmonton 5, Victoria 4

By BILL WALKER

There was a rather untidy disturbance at Memorial Arena Tuesday night.

And when it finally resolved itself Edmonton, Flyers, had hung a 5-4 defeat on Victoria Cougars in Western League hockey.

The defeat was the Cougars' second in six games, both by one-goal margins.

The victory was Edmonton's fourth and the Flyers' second on their swing through the western division.

The irregularities of the game were not uncommon to either side, but those of the Cougars hurt the most.

Coach Eddie Olson had a few brief words on the contest:

"We'll get better, that's for sure, before we get worse than that one," he said.

Bud Poile, the Flyers' mentor, said simply: "I'm glad Marcel (Pelletier) had a night like he did; when he left his net, that let us in."

MARC AGREES

Marcel, the Cougar goalie, offered few excuses for his wanderings.

"I'll never win the sweater award playing like that," he commented of a haberdashery firm's gift for the Cougar "smoothie" of the night.

But Marcel could have offered two good excuses and both would have stood up.

One was the first Edmonton goal, which was an indiscriminate offering. It happened after the Cougars had taken a 1-0 lead on Skip Teal's drive off Wayne Brown's rebound at 7:39 of the second period.

Billy McNeil of the Flyers neatly caught, with his hand, a pass and dropped the puck in front of the Cougar goal. Another Flyer caught, and held, Marcel's stick, while John McCormack banged the puck into the net at 12:50 to tie the score.

The other amnesty Pelletier could have called upon was the Cougars' loose play in front of his goal.

"I had to leave the net to get the puck," Marcel explained of his meandering.

Olson backed him up on this opinion. "We were too sloppy," he said of a troubled defensive stand.

Olson was referring to the second Edmonton goal at 14:36 of the second period when Aggie Kukulowicz stickkicked from behind the Cougar net to score unopposed and give the Flyers a 2-1 edge.

He could also have mentioned the third Edmonton goal, which Ed Stankiewicz scored, taking the puck away from two Cougar defenders and beating Pelletier with a backhand shot to the short side. This was another go-ahead counter for the Flyers at 17:57 of the second and coming after Colin Kilburn had tied the score on a one-armed poke of his own rebound while lying full length on the ice in a determined effort that had its just reward.

Leading 3-2 entering the third period, the Flyers saw Kilburn again put the Cougars even at 2:02, tipping in Doug Anderson's blue-line drive from the edge of the crease.

But that respite didn't last long. McNeil and Don Poile got clear in the Cougar zone. McNeil stealing the puck and passing Poile into the clear at 2:47, and the Flyers' now leading 4-3, were able to stay.

Stankiewicz, who leaves today to join the Detroit Red Wings, got his second, in between, pettish jousts with the equally volatile Mr. Kilburn, at 7:36 as the Flyers' nearest effort of the evening.

Anderson wound it up for the Cougars with a long screened shot from the side at 13:50, and set the stage for another furious, but unrewarding finish.

The Cougars pulled Pelletier in the final minute and gave Gilles Boisvert in the Edmonton net little time to ponder his success. Olson missing a great chance with the puck on the doorstep at 19:45.

The speedy Flyers were getting the jump on the Cougars through most of the fray, especially on loose pucks in the Cougar defensive zone. Their defence stood up admirably as the Cougars, when in scoring territory, held a slight edge after the first period and reflected in the fact they outshot the Flyers, 30-26, and 13-7, in the final period.

"They're good, but not that good," said Olson wryly.

SUSIE BUTT, Victoria's past 17-year-old tennis star, smiles happily at receiving the Fred Fackin trophy for outstanding ability and sportsmanship in B.C. junior tennis competition in 1955.

Susie, who won four tournaments this year, is ranked second in the junior seedings in the province.

Susie's Star All a Glitter Honored With Net Award

By BILL KAYNER

Victoria's Susie Butt, 17-year-old tennis phenomenon, has been singled out for one of the top tennis awards in the province.

Susie was recently presented with the Fred Fackin trophy for outstanding ability and sportsmanship in B.C. junior tennis competition. It climaxes her most successful season since beginning to play tennis at the age of 12.

This summer she won the B.C. junior women's open and closed tournaments, the Vancouver Island women's open and the Victoria City women's open. She has also been ranked second in the B.C. junior tennis seedings, and sixth in the senior seedings.

There are other sports that Susie plays, and well, too, besides being a better-than-average student in her first year at Victoria College. She is a natural athlete, and with her father's coaching, has funneled her talent into learning to play tennis better than most anybody in Victoria. At Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, where Susie has played most of her tennis over the past five years, she is definitely regarded as a "comer."

The B.C. Lawn Tennis Association thinks so too, placing her high up in the seedings in both the junior and senior divisions, and earmarking her for a shot at the Canadian junior championships next year.

And next year is expected to be the big one for Susie. Playing only one tournament in Seattle this year, Susie will travel the Pacific Northwest circuit in Portland, Tacoma and Seattle next summer, in addition to the B.C. events.

She is also a good bet to make the jump to Toronto for the Canadian championships. The BCLTA chooses the top junior players in the province to compete for Dominion tennis honors each year. Off her past record and her ability, Susie can't miss.

Record WHL Attendance of 9,671 At New 'Peg Arena; Warriors Lose

Calgary 3, Winnipeg 2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A record crowd of 9,671 Winnipeg fans watched their Warriors drop a 3-2 decision Tuesday night to Calgary Stampedeers in the new $2,000,000 Winnipeg arena.

Bill Stewart of the Stampedeers showed the first goal home to give Calgary an early lead. Barry Bous, Dave Couture, Dave Duke and Jimmy McFadden provided the rest.

Barry Cullen and Ed Macaul called for Winnipeg.

Brilliant reminding by Warriors' Ed Chadwick held the score even against the home club.

Three goals, two by Calgary, came while the opposition was stymied.

Edmonton continues its coast tour against the Royals in New Westminster tonight and Calgary moves to Regina to play the Regals.

Ceremonies officially opening the new arena were directed by Stu McPherson of the Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation, owners and builders of the modern building. Special speakers were Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, and Hap Day, managing director of the NHL's Toronto Maple Leafs.

Selke described the sprawling building as "magnificent — a credit to the city." He said he believed that some day both Winnipeg and Quebec City would be in the NHL but for the moment "train travel is the biggest stumbling block."

WELCOME TO LEAGUE

Al Leader, WHL president, welcomed the Warriors into the league and Mayor George Sharpe officially declared the arena, 11 months in the building, officially opened.

Mrs. H. McIntyre, with a score of 82, took her gross home in the 15 and under golf competition at Uplands Golf Monday.

She also had 83-6-77 to tie for low net with Mrs. W. Erickson, who scored 83-9-77. Runner-up for low net honors was Mrs. G. Chisholm, with 95-15-78.

Medal Round Golf

Mrs. H. McIntyre, with a score of 82, took her gross home in the 15 and under golf competition at Uplands Golf Monday.

She also had 83-6-77 to tie for low net with Mrs. W. Erickson, who scored 83-9-77. Runner-up for low net honors was Mrs. G. Chisholm, with 95-15-78.

HOCKEY AT MEMORIAL ARENA FRIDAY, OCT. 21 8:30 p.m.

COUGARS vs. New Westminster

Tickets at $17 Fort St. C.V.I. Bldg. Until 5:15 Day of Game Arena Box Office Opens at 7:30 p.m. Adults: $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2 Children: 50c, 75c, 1.00

After the Winnipeg players were introduced to the crowd J. D. Perrin, Sr., president of the Warrior club, faced off the puck.

Ceremonies officially opening the new arena were directed by Stu McPherson of the Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation, owners and builders of the modern building. Special speakers were Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, and Hap Day, managing director of the NHL's Toronto Maple Leafs.

Kiner Leaves Mark

Former Slugging Star To Manage Padres

NEW YORK (AP)—Home run slugger Ralph Kiner, who quit Cleveland Indians Tuesday to take a job as general manager of San Diego Padres in the Pacific Coast League, leaves his name solidly inscribed in baseball's record books.

Kiner holds the following records:

Most total bases, 30, for 11 consecutive games, at bat, 11.

Most years leading the National League in home runs in his first season.

Most years 50 or more home runs, National League, two.

Most years 40 or more home runs, National League, five.

Most home runs, two consecutive seasons, National League, 101.

Most home runs, one month, National League, 16.

SHARES MARKS TOO

Tied with five others for most home runs, two consecutive games, five.

Tied with two others most home runs three consecutive games, six; he did it three times.

Most home runs, four consecutive games, major leagues, eight.

Tied with five others for most home runs in consecutive times at bat, four.

Most times two or more home runs, game, National League, 10.

Tied with Rogers Hornsby for most home runs, bases filled, lifetime, National League, 12.

Kiner hit a total of 369 home runs in 10 major league seasons.

Kiner obtained his release as a player from Cleveland Indians to take the job.

He was hired by the San Diego club's new owner, the Westgate-California Tuna Packing Co.

It purchased the club from Bill Starr and associates after the 1955 season. Kiner's contract is for one year at a reported salary of $25,000.

TO JOIN ROYALS

POWELL RIVER (CP)—John Gifford, leading scorer in the Powell River district soccer league, will fly to Vancouver each weekend to bolster the New Westminster Royals of the Pacific coast soccer league. He played last season with Vancouver City in the coast loop. The announcement was made here by Gifford after lengthy negotiations with Aubrey Sanford, Royals' manager.

FIGHT RESULTS

LONDON—Gordon Wallace, Brantford, Ont., knocked out Randy Turpin, Great Britain (4), light heavyweight.

HOLYOKE, Mass.—Sammy Walker, 197 Springfield, Mass., stopped Jesse Turner, 184½ St. Louis.

SAANICH CAGE LEAGUE CALLS SPECIAL PARLEY

Saanich and Suburban Basketball League will hold a special meeting Saturday night at 8 at Brentwood Community Hall. League executive will hear a report by the referees prior to the meeting, and the report will then be discussed.

The league has set Friday night as deadline for team entries. All entries should be sent to Mrs. Butler, at Sooke, and teams are warned that only those entered on time will be eligible for the Island playoffs.

TIME OUT! BY JEFF KEATE

"I think he's trying to tell you something!"

He Gets His Deer But...

VANCOUVER (CP)—Persistence personified, L. D. Mercier of Vancouver.

For five years he tried in vain to bring home the venison from his annual hunting excursions.

This year he made it, a fine buck barged on an island.

He parked his truck—with deer tied on back—just before he got home from his recent trip. When he returned to his truck the buck was gone.

Monday, police wrote an unhappy end to the story of the missing buck.

They told Mr. Mercier the hide and head of the animal had been found, stuffed under a loading platform.

"I'll try again next year," he said.

Als Declare Grid Imports

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes have declared 10 imports and one man on the inactive list as their quota for the remainder of the Big Four football season.

The 10 are those who played Saturday against Toronto Argonauts and the man on the inactive list is Joe Zaleski who has been used as scout and spotter and would be used at the quarterback position should Sam Etcheberry be injured.

League deadline for naming imports to be retained was midnight Saturday.

The Als dropped Chuck Hunsinger, who has missed several games because of an injured ankle. He has left for his Illinois home.

The 10 are: Pat Abbuzzi, J. C. Caroline, Jimmy Williams, Sam Etcheberry, Tom Hugo, Al Makowicki, Jim Stanton, Red O'Quinn, Hal Patterson and Tex Coulter.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO TV

Baseball Eyes Huge Jackpot

NEW YORK (AP)—A staggering total of $9,000,000 for four games could accrue to the major league players' pension fund as a result of television, lawyer J. Norman Lewis, who handles the players' interests in their dealings with the owners, added that most people in the entertainment business expect the U.S. government to approve pay-as-you-go TV eventually.

"If this type of television goes into effect—and it may be the ultimate answer to all TV—we think revenue of $5,000,000 a game could be realized," said Lewis.

"Here is how we figure: 'Right now there are about 40,000,000 TV sets in the country. By 1957, the year the new series TV contract goes into effect, there should be about 50,000,000.

"If 10,000,000 of these were turned on at a cost of 50 cents per set, that would be $5,000,000 per game. If the series went past four games, it would go past $20,000,000.

"But on the basis of $20,000,000, about 25 per cent would have to be paid to the networks. That would leave $15,000,000 for baseball, and under the terms of the pension agreement, the players would get 60 per cent, or $9,000,000, and the club owners central fund 40 per cent, or $6,000,000."

Little Mo Seeks $265,000 Damages

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Tennis promoter Jack Kramer Tuesday told a jury, hearing former tennis champion Maureen Connolly's $265,000 damage suit for a horse-riding injury, that she asked him to pay her $27,000 the first year as a professional.

The former women's tennis champion, now Mrs. Norman Brinker, charges the injury wrecked her tennis career, including plans for professional play.

She suffered a broken right leg and a torn calf when her leg was caught between her horse and a concrete mixing truck July 20, 1954. She is suing the Pre-Mix Concrete Company and its truck driver.

BOSTON (UP)—Fast recovery from a knee operation may allow the Boston Bruins' Fleming Mackell to skate in two weeks, coach Milt Schmidt has announced.

Two-Handed Net Grip A Disadvantage--Main

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lorne Main who battered his way to the top of the Canadian tennis rankings with a two-handed attack, has some advice for prospective champions: "Don't try it."

Lorne, who makes his home in Toronto, returned recently to Vancouver, where he was brought up, because of an illness in the family.

"If I saw a young tennis player using two hands on the racket, I'd tell him to quit before it was too late," he said.

Main, slight in stature, grasped the racket in two hands and flailed away like a baseball player on his way up to a place on Canada's Davis Cup team.

He is ranked top among Canadian tennis players, a spot he believes he will lose to Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., next season.

"There is no advantage in playing with two hands," Lorne said, "in fact, it's a disadvantage."

At the age of 25, he abandoned the two-handed grip which carried him to the top, but "it was too late."

He says playing with two hands largely reduces a player's reach and hinders him in making shots.

Now that he is playing with one hand—his right—he finds it easier to keep in condition.

Ben Makes It Formal --Quits Tourney Golf

NEW YORK (UP)—Ben Hogan, the game little guy who knew how to play golf only for keeps, will play it only for kicks from now on.

Hogan, four-time winner of the National Open, announced his formal retirement from competitive golf today in an article in Look magazine. The 44-year-old Bantam Ben, who originally stated his intention of quitting after failing in his bid for a fifth open title last summer, will play the game now only for pleasure.

"I can no longer compete in tournaments," Hogan said in the article. "I can no longer maintain the concentration or strength necessary to prepare properly."

Hogan added that he "dedicated" his life to golf 25 years ago and made up his mind at the time that it "was going to be just about the biggest thing in my life."

The pocket-sized Texan won his first pro tournament in 1933. He enjoyed his greatest year in 1953 when he captured the Masters tournament with a record 274 for 72 holes, then won the National Open at Pittsburgh for the fourth time. He completed

Among Hogan's other achievements were captain of the Ryder Cup team in 1947 and 1949; PGA pro golfer of the year, 1948-50-51-53; leading money winner on the pro circuit, 1940-41-42-46-48, and winner of the Harry Vardon Memorial Trophy award, 1940-41-48.

Flo's Record Okayed

DOVER, England (AP)—The English Channel Swimming Association Tuesday accepted Florence Chadwick's swim from Dover to France in 13 hours 55 minutes as a record.

The 34-year-old San Diego, Calif., swimmer set it Oct. 11.

Charter Firm Plans Outlined

LADYSMITH—An outline of the activities planned by Cassidy Services, a charter air service that will operate out of Cassidy Airport four miles north of Ladysmith, likely by March 1, was heard by members of the local Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting this week.

COUNCILLORS WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION

SAANICHTON—Harold Andrew and Peter F. Warren, Central Saanich councillors whose terms of office expire this year, will seek re-election. To date no other possible candidate has come forward. Former councillors Ray Lamont and Willard Mitchell said they would not stand for election.

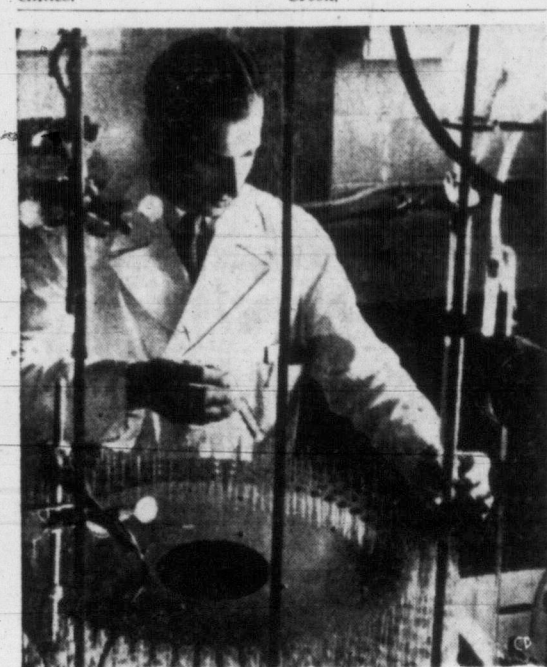

Reeve H. Rupert Brown and Councillors Harry Peard and John B. Windsor have another year yet to serve.

Council Files Parking Plan Of Hotelmen

NANAIMO — City council here took no action on a proposal that the city property known as the "car shops" be set aside for parking purposes. It was advanced by the Nanaimo branch of the B.C. Hotelmen's Association, that "this is the last and only piece of property of any size in the downtown area suitable for this purpose."

Mayor George Muir said a Nanaimo firm had made an offer for the property with a view to erecting a hotel or auto court. The suggestion was filed by council.

The hotelmen's plan will, however, be discussed at a meeting of Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce Thursday, called to review off-street parking facilities.

RELENTLESS CAMPAIGN against teredo, wood borer that honeycombs logs, wharves, wooden ships, and costs B.C. millions in lost materials, is being carried on by B.C. Research Council. Abel Pol, council technician, works on an antidote for the small but damaging worm. (CP photo.)

$250,000 Gym Given by Cominco

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—A $275,000 gymnasium was presented to the city Tuesday night by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada.

R. W. Diamond, executive vice-president of Cominco's western region, made the presentation to Mayor E. G. Fletcher.

Mr. Diamond, in making the presentation, said he hoped it would "provide recreation for the young people of our district."

The new gym, with a floor area of 113 by 59 feet, has seating for 900.

Langford Gardeners Will Meet Tonight

LANGFORD—Langford Garden Club will meet tonight at 8, in Langford Community Club hall. Miss L. M. A. Savory will offer a prize for the most interesting flowers brought to the meeting.

John Plecas of Nanaimo, a member of the company, told the meeting that the company has applied for a charter to make flights to any point in Canada from Cassidy Airport.

In addition the company will carry on a program of flying training, he said.

Four planes are on order: five-place amphibian, a three-place aircraft fitted with porpoises, and two training aircraft. The amphibian and the two training aircraft will operate from Cassidy, and the float plane will operate from the head of Ladysmith harbor.

NIGHT FLYING

In order to obtain its charter, the company must equip the airport for night flying. This will mean putting two more radio beacons in operation and in installing radio landing beams.

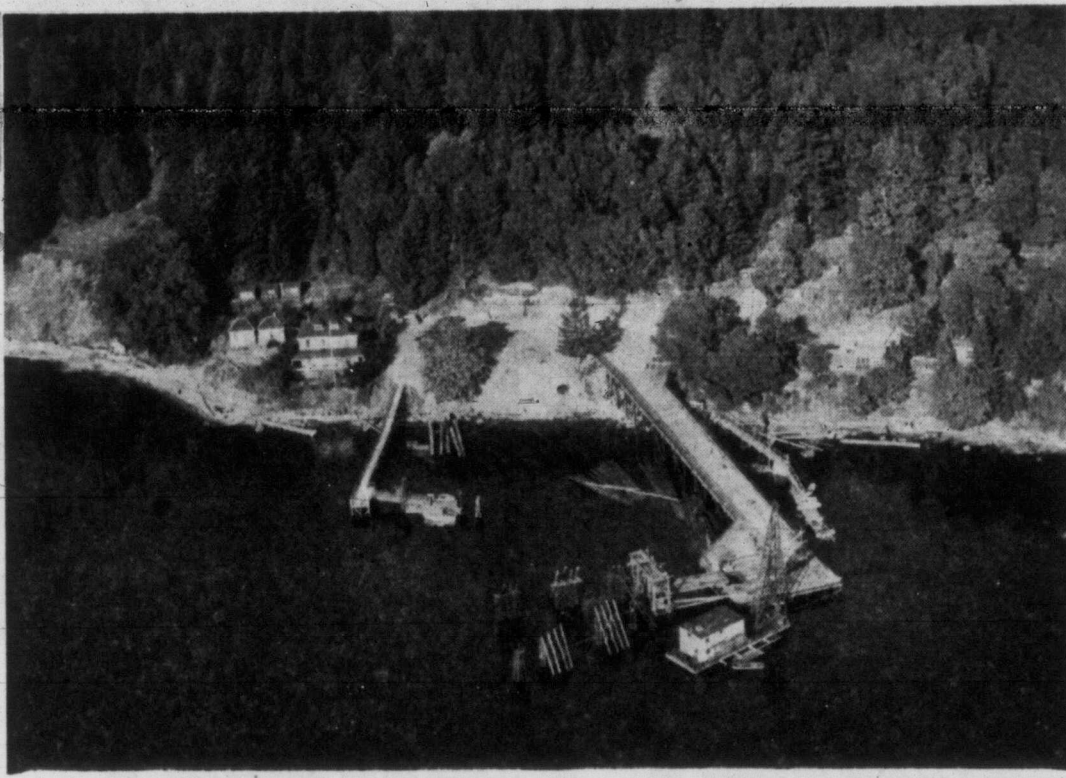

The company also plans to construct an additional runway, he said.

Construction will be started soon on a hangar 40 by 80 feet, and a maintenance workshop 20 by 20 feet.

When the company begins operations, the airport will be staffed 24 hours a day, he said.

Pt. Alberni Will Hear CCF Leader

PORT ALBERNI—M. J. Caldwell, national leader of the CCF party in Canada, will speak at a public meeting here Oct. 26. No other Vancouver Island meetings have been scheduled on Mr. Caldwell's B.C. tour. Between Oct. 21 and Nov. 2 he will speak at Kimberley, Creston, Kelowna, Hope, New Westminster, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Prince George, and Dawson Creek.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYCUSE—For the ladies who join me in touching up, blinding, or blacking out those irksome first grey hairs that, coarse and hoary, have that "dead-but-we-won't-let-down" attitude, hear this: A leading women's magazine says, "today smart women from 20 to 80 are putting grey in their hair if it's not there already. It's a badge of vitality, not a sign of age. What started the trend? First, the fact that 'tinting' is no longer considered shocking. . . I love that bit about vitality, but aren't we dears contrary. Seems when a secret's no secret anymore it's no fun, either."

Wondered awhile back about people and me reading the newspaper backwards. Found out why when S. J. Perelman, who classifies himself as one of those "enlightened cowards" who read that way, said: "It's so much easier on the nerves to start on the back page and read forward, thus preparing yourself gradually for the worst. . . How true, how true."

Another of my wonder-whys answered by a Vancouver columnist who remembered when baby-sitters were called mothers. . .

I wonder, too, why a lot of writers of letters-to-the-editor don't turn professional. Some of the "letters-to" are so well-written, have such an interesting style and rich vocabulary that I'm often filled with envy. Some, of course, verge on the illiterate, but these seem to be in the minority.

The person I know with the highest good-luck potential is a friend of ours who raises four-leaf clover. Inadvertently, as the small patch she discovered grew voluntarily, spreads each year and always in the same direction. Some five-leaf, but mostly the lucky four. A special seed mixed with the common, perhaps? Anyone know the answer?

Desperate this week for column material and I asked a group of kids if there hadn't been anything happening at high school worth recording.

"Nope," answered one large young male. "At least, nothing you could put in print!" Well, that helped a bit.

Trustees Plan Single Report On By-Law

SIDNEY — A "simple, plain statement of facts" will be sent to ratepayers of School District 63 prior to the Nov. 5 vote on a $712,000 school construction by-law, school trustees decided here.

Outstanding items in the by-law are $531,669 for construction, $89,000 for purchase and development of school sites, $60,431 for supervision and contingencies, and $50,909 for furnishings and equipment.

Passage of the by-law will add about one mill to the tax rate, according to G. L. Chatterton, school board chairman.

The board is asking less than half the $1,500,000 sought in a by-law that was rejected by voters last year. The present by-law was reduced still further with the dropping of an administration building and a proposed three-room school at Deep Cove.

Trustees decided on the single statement regarding the by-law after reporting opposition on the part of some ratepayers to expenditures for "propaganda."

Sooke WI Schedules Annual Games Night for Saturday

By DOUG FORRESTER
Times Sooke Correspondent
SOOKE—Annual games night of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute will be held at the Community Hall Saturday, it was announced today by Mrs. Alan Smith, president of the group.

This affair has become something of a tradition in the life of this community, and the usual pattern of one hour's entertainment preceding the opening of the stalls and games will be followed. The stage show is under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Conder who has said considerable new talent will be employed.

As well as numerous games for both children and adults, there will be stalls for home cooking, candy, plants, books and needlework.

In addition to discussion of games night, the last regular meeting of the institute included a report from Mrs. W. Eddy on the convention of the South Vancouver Island Women's Institutes, held last month at Colwood. Mrs. W. Strong of the Sooke group was elected to the district board at this convention.

Mrs. A. Smith has been invited to attend the presentation of scholarships at Victoria College Oct. 21, when Miss Gail LaJeunesse will receive the institute scholarship she won last year.

It was announced that the next meeting of the WI will be held Nov. 4 at Milnes Landing

High School when Mrs. P. Douglas, director of public relations for the Federated WIs of Canada, and provincial publicity convener, will illustrate a talk on institute work with films. A social evening will follow under the convener'ship of Mrs. M. Gibson and Mrs. C. Radford.

Building Chief Dies in Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Anderson, prominent in the development of British Columbia properties and the building of the Lions Gate bridge, has died here in hospital, aged 69.

Mr. Anderson, born in Scotland, came to Vancouver in 1910 and was a member of the group which developed the luxurious housing area in West Vancouver.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Western Oils Show Gains

TORONTO (CP)—The market was a little higher on average in late Toronto stock exchange dealings today.

Among industrials, refining oils were strong but most papers were lower. Among the higher papers was St. Lawrence Corporation, which on Tuesday announced a new price increase. The stock gained $2 to 78.

Irregular support came from manufacturers, steels, utilities, the foods and miscellaneous issues. Financial institutions were mostly poorer.

Eureka headed the advancing mines with a 22-cent gain to $2.67 on a brisk 130,000 shares while the warrants climbed 20 to $1.53. Hudson Bay led the seniors up, gaining $1.25.

There was little trend to golds. McIntyre added 1/2. Uranium notched a few small improvements but Beaucage lost 20 cents.

Western oil advances of between 20 and 30 cents were posted by Canadian Atlantic, Calvan and Triad.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced for the fourth day in a row today.

Prices were up 1 to 3 points and losses extended from 1 to 2 points at the outside.

Gains were found in the air-crafts, steels, motors, coppers, railroads, oil and radio-televi-sions.

Canadian stocks were higher. McIntyre advanced one point, International Nickel gained 1/2. Distillers Seagram added 1/4 and Canadian Pacific was ahead 1/4.

Giant Yellowknife, Canadian issue on the American stock exchange, slipped 1/16.

LONDON (Reuters)—The London stock market today made a satisfactory showing for the first day of the new account but business was small.

The overnight speech of R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, was received with mixed feeling and operators proceeded cautiously.

Glit-gled stocks, however, attracted good investment demand and some good gains were recorded.

Rails were neglected. There was some selective buying in industrials but best levels were not held.

Steels opened firm but eased later while engineers were mixed. Leading stores were better. Gold shares opened better but interest fell away later.

Stock closings: Babcock and Wilcox 77 1/2, Canadian Pacific 155 1/2, General Electric Ltd. 61s 9d, Hudson's Bay Co. 155s 6d, Imperial 48s 1/2, Canadian National 107s 6d.

Bonds: British 2 1/2 consols 58 1/2, British 3 1/2 war loans 179 1/2, British fundings 4s 1969-90 192.

Financial Times daily index of London stocks today was 1584, off 0.1.

Go All Out to Sell In Canada U.K. Urged

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, today described the Canadian markets as the "fairest and most open in the world," and said Britain must go all out to sell in it.

"We shall need all our traditional friendship if we are to get our mutual trade back on a sound footing," Butler said in a luncheon address to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

He said he is determined to make the foundation of the pound sterling irrevocably firm. Speaking of Canada's position in Commonwealth and Anglo-American relations, Butler said that "no country... is in closer partnership with us today in our aims and policies in world affairs than Canada."

Canada had played a "leading and always helpful and constructive part" in the collective economic approach established within the Commonwealth when the Conservative government returned to power.

This was despite Canada's own "suffering from widespread and irksome restrictions against her exports."

Butler said that he felt the sterling area and particularly Britain had not "done too badly" in easing trade restrictions with the dollar area, "though I should be the first to agree that we still have some way to go."

Butler said Britain had "lost some ground" in the Canadian market—"one of our best and most highly-prized markets."

He forecast a period of "almost limitless expansion" ahead of Canada, and said British industrialists and exporters "need to continue to go all-out to sell" there.

They turned to trade. Would it help if they were freer traders between the east and the west, they wanted to know. Funston hedged by pointing out that was something for the state department.

And then to top off a terrible day for the exchange president, these Russians wanted to know if we had done anything to level off booms and busts. Sure, said he. Then, by golly, and thanks be, they left Wall Street.

Funston took four buffer tablets and signed with relief.

A group of Russian journalists visited the New York stock exchange. The exchange sort of apologized for the term when the newspaper men asked about it. Seems some are magazine fellers—not newspaper men.

These fellows had inter-preters—one third as many as there were of them—one Russian and a guy from the state department.

They shot their questions at Keith Funston, president of the New York stock exchange.

How many stockholders in the nation, they wanted to know. Funston didn't tell them it's mighty hard to find out that one. He never batted an eyelash but said: "There are 7,500,000 to 8,000,000 actual stockholders. There are some 100,000,000 stockholders indirectly with savings bank deposits and life insurance policies."

The boys from the Soviet have been reading the newspapers—Pravda and all the rest. They next asked something like this:

"We been reading about some bad days on the market. How about it? Has the market recovered?" Funston gave them the general treatment on that one—no comparison with 1929; technical reaction, or so it seemed, etc.

Then, these novices in markets had the nerve to ask what makes prices go up and down. That's a cinch to answer—law of demand and supply.

About that time, the Russians began to apologize for asking

Russian Journalists Study U.S. Exchange

NEW YORK (UP)—Once upon a time Russia had a stock market—the Petrograd stock exchange. Petrograd was St. Petersburg and now is Stalin-grad.

Well, anyhow, the market used to operate on a capitalist system. Then, came the revolution—Kerensky, Trotsky, Stalin, and all the others. Then, ping, no more stock market. Everything owned by the state.

Russians could find out about stock markets by looking at the records of old—the days when the Czars were on top and the common people were on the bottom. Now the leaders of the Soviet are on top and the common people are where they always were.

Mining Group To Develop Claim Block

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—John McGowan and Clarence Fuller of this central British Columbia settlement have leased a block of 15 copper claims to a Toronto mining group, it was reported here Tuesday.

McGowan Exploration and Harrison Minerals of Toronto are planning a diamond-drilling program in the area, 13 miles east of here. Quesnel is 250 miles north of Vancouver.

Mr. Fuller said an area of about 40 feet by 50 feet has been uncovered so far. Samples show an average of seven per cent copper and some gold and silver. He said high-grade ore had been recovered and he estimated it at about 10 per cent copper.

Foreign Silver Price Reduced

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of foreign silver was reduced 1/2 of a cent today by a major super to 91 1/2 cents an ounce.

This was the first reduction since June 13 when the price was cut half a cent to 89 1/2 cents. Since then the trend has been consistently upward.

BCPC Accepts New Tender For Buttle Shore Clearing

The B.C. Power Commission revealed Tuesday it has accepted a revised tender submitted by Trethewey Logging Co. Ltd., and Cattermole Timber Co. Ltd., for clearing the shores of Buttle Lake.

The two firms submitted a joint bid of $4,887,720 on September 27. Their new bid is for $4,599,444.

Revised prices were asked from the three competing bidders, based on a modification of specifications, and a six-month time extension on completion of the job.

Under the changed specifications the contractor is not required to clean smaller material from the area to be flooded. The commission will do this itself.

The commission has also thrown out bids received for clearing Upper Campbell Lake, and will seek new bids, with modified specifications, possibly this week.

Only one bid, from Campbell Bennett-Mannix, was received for clearing some 30,000,000 feet of timber from 6,729 acres surrounding Upper Campbell. Another firm bid on only one small area.

Modifications in the Upper Campbell contract are similar to those on Buttle Lake—in methods of handling and disposing of material, and extension of the completion date.

The Campbell Bennett-Mannix bid was for $9,534,795.

CHIEF FRANK BRIERS of the Victoria Fire Department says: "A good deal of a fireman's work is concerned with getting people out of trouble or trying to prevent the trouble from happening. That seems to be the same sort of job the agencies of the Community Chest are busy with, so the men of the department are doing their share to help along the Red Feather work. Fire isn't the only calamity that can destroy a life or a home. That's why we're behind the chest campaign."

Active Shipbuilding Deemed Vital to Canada's Defence

MONTREAL (UPI)—The president of Canada's biggest shipbuilding firm told a royal commission Friday that an active peacetime shipbuilding industry capable of expansion in time of emergency was vital to national defence.

O. H. Barrett, president of Canadian Vickers Ltd., also urged the commission to recommend restriction of coastal shipping operations to vessels built and registered in this country. Barrett was the principal speaker before the three-man commission studying coasting trading.

A spokesman for the Canadian National Railways disagreed with the brief submitted by Vickers. The railroad argued that the only restrictions which should be placed on non-Canadian vessels were duties and impositions which would place them on equal operating terms with Canadian ships.

The conditions suggested by the CNR would establish a competitive framework, to allow each form of transportation to bid for traffic equally.

The Vickers' brief pointed out that without an assured domestic market provided by protected coastal trade, the Canadian shipbuilding industry would be unable to maintain itself in a state of readiness required by its role in the national defence.

Relics of Stone Age Life Found In Far North Include Houses

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (CP)—Details of the discovery in the Canadian sub-Arctic of homesites of an extinct Eskimo race known as the Dorset people were announced Sunday night by the Smithsonian Institution.

Reporting the results of a summer expedition into the Canadian north, the Smithsonian said weapons and implements of the Stone-age Dorsets and the big stone houses in which they lived were found on Southampton island, one of the Walrus islands, both lying in the mouth of Hudson's Bay 1,400 miles north of Toronto.

The discoveries were made by a party led by Dr. Henry B. Collins, Smithsonian archaeologist, and including Dr. J. N. Emerson of University of Toronto, William E. Taylor, Jr., National Museum of Canada, and James Wright, University of Toronto student in anthropology.

Collins said the discovery was separate from one made by a group headed by Dr. Richard S. MacNeish, chief archaeologist of Canada's National Museum. Although both discoveries dealt with the same people, they were quite a distance apart. Collins pointed out that the MacNeish group's find was in the Mackenzie district, nearly 2,000 miles from Southampton island.

IMPLEMENTS FOUND
On Southampton island, in addition to dwellings, the Collins party found harpoon heads, knives and other implements which Dr. Collins estimated to be more than 1,000 years old.

On a side trip to desolate Walrus island, never before studied by scientists, they came across big, roof-less stone houses, arranged in a mans known to have spread across settlement and so well preserved Arctic North America, have been that they can hardly be more than several hundred years old. Previously, it had been thought the Dorset people, forerunners of the present-day Canadian Eskimo, had disappeared nearly 1,000 years ago.

Dr. Collins described the houses as "remarkable" structures, built of massive granite blocks and boulders piled in the form of well-constructed walls around deep excavations in the frozen soil. There were houses of one, two and three rooms, the latter in the general shape of a clover leaf. All were roofless. Presumably, the roofs consisted of perishable animal skins.

No skeletons or other human remains were found.

Up to now, the Dorset people, whose ancestors were the first hu-

ALL'S WELL IN CRANE WORLD, BABY BIRD REACHES SOUTHLAND

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP)—Three whooping cranes, vanguard of the annual fall migration from northwestern Canada, were found on Aransas national wildlife refuge Tuesday by refuge manager Julian Howard.

Two adult birds with one young whooper, hatched last June near Great Slave Lake, were seen.

Last fall, 21 adults who had flown north in the spring came back with no young.

This summer, Canadian wildlife officials spotted six young on the nesting range, including two pairs of twins.

Vancouver Churchmen Residents Fight Dallas Parking Endorse Sports Vote

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Council of Churches Tuesday night endorsed a report by Rev. Stanley E. Higgs "accepting the idea" of a Sunday sports plebiscite.

At its annual meeting, the council's board of administration voted unanimously for a resolution opposing any campaign to legalize professional Sunday sports here.

Requests for a plebiscite followed the transfer to Vancouver last month of a baseball franchise held by Oakland A's of the Pacific Coast League. Vancouver will enter the U.S. league for the first time next summer.

Residents of Dallas Road who are protesting construction of a parking lot near Cook and Linden will argue to council that there are 3,000 feet of waterfront suitable for view points.

A petition which is being circulated registers concern that misuse of the new parking areas by partying motorists will hurt the neighborhood.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of council public works committee, has said he will suggest parking be regulated to avoid messes, but some residents said today they will protest the construction anyway.

NEW SAFETY BELT—Pictured above is something new in the fast-growing field of automobile safety belts. Devised by a Middletown, Conn., manufacturer of aircraft belts, it employs a unique principle of securing the wearer's entire torso to the car seat. Two six-foot belts are used, both bolted in orthodox fashion to the car frame at points below the seat back. The other end is safely secured, without mechanical fastening devices by the weight of the wearers sitting on the belt's free end. Inset shows how two passengers can each use one of the belts.

Cariboo Judge, Fred Calder Dead at 87

VANCOUVER (CP)—Judge Fred Calder, a member of the county court in the Cariboo for 33 years, died Monday in New Westminster. He was 87.

He was born at West Bay, Cape Breton, P.E.I. He taught school there for a short time and was timekeeper on the Inter-Colonial Railway construction job before attending Dalhousie University where he graduated in law in 1892. Two years later he was admitted to the Nova Scotia bar where he practiced until 1899. The following year he went to Dawson City and in 1902 was admitted to the British Columbia bar.

Mill Engineers Meet Operators, This Week

A reconciliation meeting between lumber mill operators and the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL) in a current dispute involving 20 coast mills, will be held in Vancouver later this week.

Negotiators had hoped to meet Tuesday at Labor Relations Board offices in Vancouver, but a session could not be arranged until later, a union officer said.

Engineers, 171 of whom are employed in a total of 22 International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) dominated mills, voted to strike following rejection of their demand for a 10 per cent wage increase.

The operating engineers form 40 per cent of steam plant employees in the mills, with the balance of steam plant workers and virtually all other mill employees belonging to the IWA.

A two-year wage agreement giving the woodworkers a five-cent-an-hour increase each year was signed by the IWA this summer. When employers offered engineers the same, workers turned it down by a near 100 per cent vote.

Boy-Shooter Convicted on Lesser Count

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—John Norman (Jack) Cairns of Merritt was found guilty in supreme court here Tuesday of unlawfully wounding 13-year-old Robert Edward Sahara, of Merritt, last Aug. 5. The jury, after deliberating under two hours, cleared the accused of attempted murder or of shooting with intent to wound.

Sentence will be handed down Thursday.

During the hearing the boy told the jury how a man, a complete stranger to him, had called him over and then fired a .22 bullet into his neck.

Sahara testified he had been chasing cows out of a field. "He put the gun right up to me just here," said Sahara, indicating a spot below his right ear, and continued, "he fired the gun. The bullet came out here," the boy indicated a point higher up his neck and behind his ear.

Trial Ordered In Knife Attack On Policeman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charles Kinna, 25, was committed Tuesday for trial in supreme court on a charge of possessing an offensive weapon.

Const. Henry Kamstra testified Kinna came at him "at a trot" with a single blade from a pair of garden shears when the officer arrested him Aug. 31 on a robbery charge.

Kinna was acquitted on the robbery charge last week.

His brother, Thomas Kinna, also appeared in court Tuesday. He testified in the attempted murder trial of five men. Thomas was severely beaten in the CNR yards here June 11.

B.C. GAS-LINE PIPE CONTRACT GOES TO U.K.

LONDON (CP)—R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, announced today that the South Durham Iron and Steel Company had gained a B.C. contract worth $12,000,000.

The British company will supply 75,000 tons of 30-inch pipe for the natural gas pipeline linking Fort St. John, B.C., and Vancouver.

Butler called it the "single biggest contract" a British company had ever gained in Canada.

"After 10 years I'M FREE FROM IRREGULARITY"

Writes Mr. H. W. Farmer of Windsor, Ont.: "After suffering for over 10 years, I'm free from irregularity, thanks to Kellogg's All-Bran."

BETWEEN TIMES

By JUDY BOOTS STREAK

Well you would never guess what the Old Man is trying to talk me into. And in case you don't know who the Old Man is he is what is laughingly called the author of this column and I am the female type dog who lives at his house named Judy Boots Streak but more usually known as Judy the Friend of All the People.

Well where was I being a female type dog I sometimes get carried away you should forgive me. I was going to tell you what the Old Man has been trying to talk me into.

He has been trying to talk me into running for mayor of Victoria it appears there once was a dog named Punch who used to live at the Old Man's house who ran for mayor much to the acclaim and admiration of one and all and the Old Man has never gotten over it.

So now if you are a dog who lives at the Old Man's house you are apt to be urged to run for mayor it is an occupational hazard like housemaid's knee.

Well anyway I just thought I would take up a few inches of the Old Man's valuable (heh!) column-space to answer and to tell him whether or not I will run for mayor of Victoria.

This answer is, not me. I have no intention of running for any public office. I do not choose to run. I will not be drafted. I have no aspirations to public office. In short no dice if I may be momentarily unkindly.

Not that we dogs couldn't do a great deal to help out the city of Victoria. We dogs often say the way things are Victoria is going to the peoples and something should be done about it.

But I don't feel it is up to me. I have examined the affairs of the city of Victoria with considerable interest and what I always say is it was people who made Victoria what she is today let people suffer for it not dogs.

Besides which I happen to know why the Old Man wants me to run for mayor it is not because he wants me to be elected oh no when the dog Punch ran for mayor he wrote lots of columns so the Old Man could go fishing and I am not going to write lots of columns so the Old Man can go fishing or anything else.

I am a female type dog and not so easily fooled as the dog Punch was.

So that answers the Old Man's question will I run for mayor and no doubt relieves a great weight from the minds of the other contestants who would of course have gone down to defeat had I thrown my hat in the ring.

What am I saying? I don't own a hat. If you'll excuse me. I must run along now. I have to make an inspection visit to the work in progress at Holland Point.

JUNE IN OCTOBER

Summer Extends Itself As More Sun Predicted

Beautiful sunny, warm days that could hold their own in any summer have Victorians flocking to the golf courses, fishing spots and garden shops.

Today was mostly sunny; and Tuesday saw 5.3 hours of sunshine despite a late afternoon and evening shower that produced .05 inch of rain. Maximum temperature was 55.7 degrees, and minimum was 45.8 degrees.

Monday the maximum temperature was a balmy 63 degrees, and the sun shone brightly for 10.1 hours. Sunday also was a day that surpassed just about anything July had to offer, with a maximum temperature of 61.8 degrees and 10.2 hours of sunshine.

Saturday was a "nice" day, according to weatherman William Mackie, Friday was ordinary, and on Thursday the sun shone brightly for 10.5 hours to set a new sunshine record for Oct. 13.

Lack of wind has made the last few days seem more than usually balmy, but temperatures were close to records. All-time high temperatures recorded for present dates are as follows: Oct. 15, 65.8 degrees in 1929; Oct. 16, 65.8 degrees, 1936; Oct. 17, 68.8 degrees, 1944.

"There will be clouds tonight, and mostly sunny skies Thursday," Mr. Mackie said. "Fog patches will gather along the shoreline and low-lying areas, and temperatures will range between 45 and 55 degrees."

As Athabaskan passes Duntze Head, the prince will be saluted by bugles, then pipes of Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), and the second Royal Salute of 21 guns will be fired from Black Rock.

Victorians will get a grandstand view of the departure from Beacon Hill Park at about 9:50 a.m.

The Second Canadian Escort Squadron will sail with Athabaskan, making a sixship flotilla, and off Beacon Hill will steam past the remaining operational ships of Pacific Command which will man and cheer the escort.

The princess will arrive in Victoria at 3 p.m., and ships will remain until 9 a.m. Saturday, returning to Esquimalt at 3 p.m.

Tonight Mayor Claude Harrison will escort Her Highness by automobile through the downtown area so she may see city lights and evening crowds.

Points of special interest will include Memorial Arena, Hudson's Bay Co., Chinatown, B.C. Electric, illuminated 700 block Yates, Royal Theatre, Legislative Building and Power Commission building.

The mayor will call for Princess Mary at 8:45 p.m. at Government House. Route of the tour will be:

Rockland to Cook and Fort, west to Quadra, north to Fisgard, Government, Pandora, back to Quadra, south to Yates, through to Government and back to Fort, Blanshard, Burdett, west to Government and south to Belleville, Menzies to Superior and back to Government, east on Superior to Thunderbird Park, following Douglas to Dallas Road and Cook, north to Rockland and Government House.

Thursday is a free day for the Royal party.

At Empress Hotel Tuesday, where Premier W. A. C. Bennett and his cabinet hosted the Princess Royal at luncheon, she spoke of the development of B.C. and said she felt assured the children she had seen would be worthy guardians of the future of the province.

She said: "It has always been one of my ambitions to visit British Columbia and now I am here at Canada's western gateway I find it is more beautiful and splendid than I had imagined. My stay here is all too short. I should so much have liked to have seen more of the remarkable developments that are taking place in British Columbia and to have met the men and women responsible for those developments."

At noon today Her Highness received a small group of about 16 former members of the British ATS, of which she was honorary head, and the WRNS at Government House, then attended a luncheon given by provincial and local IODE groups.

Electricians Sign Contract With BCE

Wages Boosted Over Two Years

A contract providing a wage boost of five per cent over two years has been approved by the B.C. Electric and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The contract, announced jointly by Dr. L. B. Jack, company industrial relations director, and Charles A. Peck, business agent for Victoria Local 230, IBEW, provides for across-the-board wage increases of 3 per cent the first year, and 2 per cent the second. The new contract is retroactive to Aug. 1. Under its terms, pay for a journeyman linemen will increase from the present $2.30 per hour to $2.37, retroactive to Aug. 1, and next year automatically will be raised to $2.41½.

About 650 BCE employees will be affected by the agreement, including the 96 in Victoria.

Mishandling Claims Backed By Candidate

Saanich council aspirant David Wright said today he told councillors Leslie Passmore and S. W. Brock 18 months ago gravel loads delivered to the municipality were "short weight," but councillors took no action.

A former outside worker on the municipal staff, Mr. Wright threw his support behind Cle. Robert Fleming to the effect trucking contracts have been "mishandled." Saanich council Monday ordered a complete investigation into the matter.

Crs. Passmore and Brock today denied they had been approached by Mr. Wright.

Said Mr. Passmore: "In any election there are usually some aspirants for office who feel they can enhance their own candidature by impugning integrity of sitting members."

Mr. Brock said of Mr. Wright: "I don't know the man," but added that, regardless of the merits of the charge, there was a need to streamline administration.

Meanwhile Mr. Fleming said he intends to press council to "tighten up" municipal administration.

"At present it's a standing joke among workers that Saanich is an easy touch," he said. "I don't like being laughed at and paying the bill as well."

Black Ball Buys Ferry Scotian From Nova Scotia

Black Ball Ferries Ltd. has purchased the former Nova Scotia government ferry Scotian to bolster its Horseshoe Bay-Sechart service.

Delivery of the 160 foot vessel was taken Saturday, and she will be brought to this coast via the Panama Canal.

The Scotian is an all-steel, double-ended with a capacity of 50 vehicles and 600 passengers. She was built in Pictou in 1946, and operated between Halifax and Dartmouth until construction of the Angus L. MacDonalld bridge.

Scotia will operate on the Sechart run in addition to the present ferry, Mrs. Bainbridge. She is expected on this coast before the end of this year, and will go into service shortly after.

Something to Bark About

"Toffles," the 10-year-old keeshound of Mrs. D. B. Hudson, 2615 Cranmore Road, takes a keen interest in the Red Feather campaign. He accompanies his mistress on her rounds as a Community Chest canvasser and here surveys the day's receipts. "Don't put our charities in the dog house," says Toffles. "The Community Chest is something to bark about."

Oak Bay Students Receive Bursaries

Eight former students of Oak Bay High School were honored at a special scholarship ceremony today. About $1,000 in awards was presented.

Six of the youngsters are now at Victoria College. Two who are attending UBC in Vancouver were represented by their mothers who received the awards on their behalf. Parents of all the honored students were present at the assembly. It was directed by principal C. A. Gibbard. The high school band provided music.

Top winner was Sarah Elliot, who received the $400 Chris Spencer Scholarship for the student in the district with highest marks in June government exams. It was presented by Alec Turnbull, assistant municipal inspector.

Mr. Turnbull also presented the $250 Mattilda Horspool Memorial Scholarship to Sandra Parton. A $125 Canadian Legion Scholarship went to Isobel Ogle.

Capt. Ian Simpson presented a $50 award, the Capt. F. G. Dexter Memorial Bursary to Philip Willis. The Oak Bay PTA Bursary was presented to Susan Burnette by Mrs. E. A. Tucker, retiring PTA president. Value was $75.

The PEO Bursary was won by Miss Barbara Davidson and presented by Miss Lola Maxwell.

Oak Bay Kiwanis $75 scholarship, won by Valerie Dowling and presented to her mother by F. McKinnon, vice-principal of Oak Bay Kiwanis. Miss Dowling is at UBC.

The Lady Laurier Women's Club Bursary of $75 was won by Carole McClellan, who is also at UBC. Her mother accepted the award from Mrs. H. C. Johnston.

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow noted the pills are sold at drug stores without prescription.

The charge arose when Thompson was driving east on Yates at about 4.40 p.m. Tuesday.

His car collided with another, struck a traffic island between Douglas and Blanshard and then struck a parked car.

Police said he was very unsteady on his feet when they arrived on the scene.

Every Operational Ship in Pacific Fleet To Take Part in Princess Mary's Farewell

Every operational ship of the navy's Pacific fleet will take part in a farewell to the Princess Royal when she leaves for Vancouver Friday morning after a six-day visit here.

She will be accorded two 21-gun Royal Salutes at HMC Dockyard, be honored with a Royal Guard of sailors and a brief parade of the Royal Color before being piped past Duntze Head in HMCS Athabaskan.

First Royal Salute will be fired at Dockyard when the princess first arrives from Government House and inspects a 100-man Royal Guard.

Officer Tells Of Tussle Over Revolver

Gun Wrested From Accused

How a city constable "got the drop" on an armed man and wrested his revolver from him was related in city police court today.

Testifying at the trial of Ivan James Jessome, Victoria, on a charge of carrying a pistol without a permit, Constable Richard Rose told the court he and the suspect both went for their guns during an altercation Saturday night at Johnson and Broad streets.

Constable Rose told court he was on patrol when he saw Jessome arguing and pushing a woman at about 11:20 p.m.

He said he approached and asked what the trouble was and was told to "mind your own business."

The constable said the woman, Hilda Rose, twice told him "be careful, the man has a gun in his pocket."

"I pulled my service revolver and pointed it at him," the constable said.

He testified the man then put the gun back in his pocket and fled.

As he was running away, Jessome told the woman to go away as "there may be a gun fight," Constable Rose testified.

He said the man did not completely pull the revolver from his pocket. About one inch of the barrel did not clear Jessome's pocket, the constable testified.

Constable Rose said he then chased the man into the Royal Olympic hotel and forced the revolver out of Jessome's hand while it was still in his pocket.

Jessome pleaded guilty and was remanded to Monday for sentence.

Survivors

Surviving are his widow, Maybelle M., at home, 446 Linden; two sons, Graham and Torrey; and one daughter, Mrs. W. F. (Lauretta) Holdridge, all of Victoria; three brothers, George, Victoria; Harold, Hamilton, Ont.; and Arthur, Walton, Ont. Seven grandchildren and nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at First United Church, with Rev. A. I. Higgins, Rev. W. G. Wilson, DD, and Rev. J. L. W. McLean, DD, officiating. Interment will take place at Colwood Burial Park.

Bigamist Jailed For Six Months

Six-month jail term was imposed in city police court today on bigamist George Arthur Davis, 1264 McKenzie.

Davis, a used car salesman, previously pleaded guilty to the charge.

Police said the accused had married Sheila M. Whiting in England on April 26, 1944, and then went through a form of marriage here with Elizabeth Jean MacKay on Aug. 2, 1954.

Mapping Chief William Thorpe Funeral Held

Funeral service was held Tuesday at McCall Brothers Chapel for William George Thorpe, 63, a resident of Victoria since 1912 and map chief of the geographic division, lands department, provincial government.

Mr. Thorpe, born in Norwich, England, served with the Victoria Fusiliers during the First World War.

Among his services to the government was co-ordinating and description of various administrative boundaries of the province, plus the technical editing of the annual Lands Service Report.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen, at home, 901 Richmond Road; two sons, Ronald and Geoffrey, and two brothers and a sister in England.

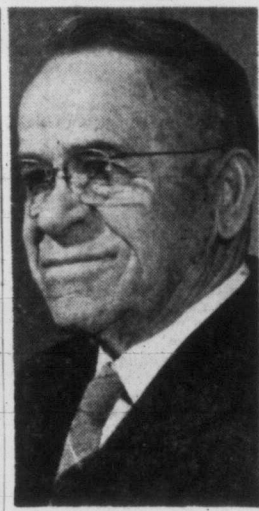

Rev. Canon F. E. M. Tomalin officiated at the service. Cremation followed at Royal Oak.

Wife of Ex-MLA Elected to Head Saanich Liberals

Saanich Liberal Association elected Mrs. A. J. R. Ash as president Monday night at the annual meeting in Liberal Headquarters, Government Street.

She succeeds Stan Winterbottom. Others elected: Ex-MLA Arthur Ash, first vice-president; Mrs. V. Joyce, second vice-president; Mrs. E. T. Lea, third, and A. Derman, fourth; Owen Cassidy, secretary-treasurer.

Plans for an active year will be made by the executive, Mrs. Ash promised in announcing first general meeting on Nov. 15 will be addressed by Dr. F. T. Fairley, Victoria MP.

THE LATE DAVID MCCALL

David McCall, Undertaker, Dies at 74

David Moore McCall, co-founder of the firm of McCall Bros. Funeral Directors Ltd., and resident of Victoria since 1921, died Tuesday night in hospital. He was 74.

Born in Walton, Ont., he lived in Calgary and Edmonton before residing here and establishing the firm with his brother, James Milton McCall, who died early this month.

He was president of the firm, and remained active in business until taken ill two weeks ago.

Mr. McCall was an elder and member of sessions at First United Church; honorary member, Capital City Commercial Club and Victoria Curling Club; and member of Confederation Lodge No. 16, A.F. & A.M.; Victoria Chamber of Commerce, L.O.L., and Victoria Canadian Club. His hobbies were horticulture and oil painting.

Stunning Accessories Last Through Fall Into Winter

By PENNY SAVER

For that casual, yet smartly-dressed look, the many styles of metal belts on the market are well to the fore. Wide or narrow, and in all colors and shapes, there's one to suit you. For a novel effect, you might like the one I saw in a little downtown store. It is made of very light metal, in twisted links. It's very narrow, and a perfect complement for that straight and narrow skirt. On the end of the chain is a ball of cork. That's what I said... cork. I told you it was novel. The price is $2.50.

For a special dress-up date, the matched earring and hair barret sets are attractive... and inexpensive, too. For $1, you can buy a pair of pearl and rhinestone earrings that are very dainty, and a hair barret of matching pearls and rhinestones. For you girls with longer hair, these barrets will give an added sparkle to complete the prettiest outfit.

Matched earring and necklace sets are another specialty. They come in all the new fall shades, in small, dainty sizes, or the larger chunky styles for you taller girls. They range in price from $1.50 to $3.50. Choose from copper, green, red, rust, gold and brown to go with your new or resurrected fall outfits.

For a really wide and interesting selection of earrings for pierced ears, come take a look around this little shop. Brilliant stones, novelty drops or more tailored, earrings... they're all in many and various sizes, shapes and colors. The prices? Anywhere from 69 cents up.

Here's a thought to keep in mind when you start rushing about buying Christmas decorations. To give your home a truly festive touch, decorate hanging lights to the best advantage. Large gold foil stars with many points fit over hanging bulbs, and the light shines through the dozens and dozens of tiny holes in the points. They're sturdy and can be used year after year. Depending on the size you want and need, they cost $3, $4.50, $5.95 and $10.50. Artistically designed, these are made in Germany.

You've probably seen them in displays and store windows and remarked that you'd like to have one for your own house decoration. Well, here's your opportunity.

Call me at 23131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here in the corner from day to day.

Fur trim is back for fall in the form of collars, cuffs and even at the hemline of coats. Some suits and coats have bright fur linings.

Only Time and Patience Will Reconcile Mother

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a mother sets her heart on what she considers a "good match" for her daughter, it may take time for her to be reconciled to a marriage which does not meet with her approval.

Hurlock

(Q)—"Ever since I was a little girl, my mother has wanted me to marry a rich man. Mom has always talked about the hard struggle she and Dad had, and she wanted me to be spared what she went through in the early years of her marriage."

"Last year I eloped with a young man who is just getting started in business. I knew my mother would object and make a scene if I told her before we were married. Since then, she hasn't had anything to do with us. Though Dad is very fond of my husband, a month ago, I wrote Mom a note and told her I was pregnant. I haven't heard from her, although we live just a few miles from my parents and Dad often comes to see us. I know I wouldn't be welcome at home so I haven't been there since we were married. I would like to do something to make Mom see how happy I am, but how can I when she won't have anything to do with us?"—J. S.

(A)—Be patient and I am sure your mother's heart will soften when the baby arrives and your father tells her that he has seen it.

In the meantime, drop in at your home when you are sure your mother will be there alone. Don't tell her you are coming, but take her by surprise. She may be angry at first but be tactful and tell her about your plans for the baby. I am sure she will soften somewhat.

Urge her to come see you and help with preparations for the baby. It may take time before she will accept your husband, but when he begins to be successful in business, I am sure she will be proud to have him in the family.

Wedding Day Named

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norman Chater, Ottawa, Ont., formerly of Vancouver, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathleen Mary Chater, of Vancouver, to Mr. Walter Alexander Thomson, Victoria, son of Mr. Alexander Mervyn Thomson, White Rock, formerly of Victoria, and the late Mrs. Thomson. The wedding will take place Saturday, November 12, at 3 p.m. in St. Anselm's Anglican Church, University Boulevard, Vancouver.

Lady Alexander Supports English-Speaking Union

CALGARY (CP)—Canada has a vital role to play as the "bridge or hinge country" between the Commonwealth countries and the United States, Lady Alexander said here Saturday.

Speaking to a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs on the English speaking union, she said Canada is on intimate terms with both the United States and countries of the Commonwealth.

She spoke at the luncheon addressed by her husband.

"These countries need the help of Canadians who are in a unique position and are foreigners neither in the rest of the Commonwealth nor in the United States of America."

The English speaking union is an organization for all from the United States and the Commonwealth who believe and cherish the western way of life, she said.

Its purpose is to promote interchange, understanding and friendship between all Commonwealth citizens and citizens of the U.S., whatever their ancestry, culture, color, religion, party or class, Lady Alexander said.

ELECTRIC KITCHEN POPULAR

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian kitchen which Earl and Countess Alexander have had installed at their home in England as a gift from the people of Canada has caused one snag.

Lady Alexander told a luncheon meeting of the Quebec branch of the English Speaking Union about this difficulty over their "very beautiful" kitchen.

"People who visit us say 'We are very pleased to see you because we really wanted to see your Canadian kitchen,'" remarked the wife of the former governor-general of Canada.

"But there's one snag. I can't get my husband out of the kitchen."

Dean Whitlow Speaks to Guild on Gaspe

Women's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral extended a welcome to the new dean and rector, Very Rev. Brian Whitlow, at their recent meeting in Memorial Hall. In addressing members, the dean gave an interesting account of life and work in his former parish in the Gaspe Peninsula.

The messiest days of life aren't moving days, they're the ones just before baby masters the intricacies of the spoon. Big handfuls of oatmeal go through the air, chunks of egg land on the floor, milk is over all. But it's soon over.

Medium and old cheese are aged to develop the desired flavor. Medium cheese is aged for several months and old cheese for a year or more. The care required in aging cheese, the cost of storing it and the natural shrinkage are reasons for the higher price of old cheese.

Fall Pancake Festival Suggestions

Pancakes are popular, no matter how you serve 'em. Plain pancakes are the number one choice (see recipe below), but add that extra touch of glamor there are a few variations:

REGULAR PANCAKES (BASIC RECIPE)

Here's an "easy-as-winking" basic recipe that makes 14 to 16 medium pancakes:

Two cups Ready-Mix for Pancakes, 2 cups milk (or water). Just add milk or water to the unsifted Pancake Ready-Mix and stir. Heat on a griddle. Somewhat lumpy batter makes light, fluffy pancakes.

Pour ¼ cup of batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

For extra rich pancakes, add two tablespoons melted butter, fat or oil and one beaten egg to pancake batter. For thinner pancakes use more milk or water. For delicious Buckwheat Cakes use two cups Buckwheat Ready-Mix and 2½ cups milk, following above directions.

And now try some of these appetizing new variations:

APPLE PANCAKES WITH SOUR CREAM

Two cups Ready-Mix for Pancakes, 2 eggs, beaten, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, or margarine, 2 cups diced raw apple.

Combine beaten eggs and milk. Add to pancake ready-mix all at once and stir lightly. Fold in the melted butter and diced apple. Pour ¼ to 1 cup of batter onto a greased griddle or frying pan. Bake slowly until golden brown on underneath side, about three minutes. Turn and bake on other side. Roll up. Place on baking sheet in moderate oven (375°F.) to keep warm until all the pancakes are baked.

Sprinkle generously with confectioners' sugar and garnish with fried apple slices. Serve with sour cream. Makes five servings.

APPETIZING PANCAKE VARIATIONS

Just a few of the most popular pancake variations are given here. Almost any fruit, cooked meat or nuts can be cut fine and added to the pancake batter.

Apple Spice Pancakes: Fold one cup chopped uncooked apples into pancake batter before baking. Serve with butter and a topping mixture of sugar and cinnamon.

Blueberry Pancakes: Fold one cup fresh or frozen blueberries into pancake batter before baking.

Mincemeat Pancakes: Fold two-thirds cup mincemeat into pancake batter before baking. Serve with hot syrup.

Corn Pancakes: Fold one cup drained cooked corn into batter before baking. Serve with syrup or creamed meat sauce.

Ham Pancakes: Fold one cup finely diced or ground ham into pancake batter before baking. Serve with raisin sauce or syrup.

It's Pancake Time Again

He's ready and willing! Look at that gleam in his eye as that pancake comes off the stack! Here's a man who really enjoys the Autumn Pancake Festival. Right across Canada this week there'll be festive events, with church, community and other groups staging pancake parties that will not only delight their members, but will raise a little cash for worthwhile projects. At home too, the whole family will wait with mouth-watering anticipation while Mom whips up a batch of real man-sized pancakes. Then there'll be a dash for the dinner table and a lot of happy smiles as hungry youngsters and adults dig in.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Readjust and Look Ahead at Middle Age

For some, middle age is an occasion for periodic depression and discouragement. Some lucky people go along and never find this a problem but for the average, sooner or later during the mid-years, depression and discouragement settles, down like a fog.

It seems to me that it is wise to understand some of the reasons for this, so that you may not take it all too seriously. Only when it becomes chronic is it serious. Many factors enter into this depression and measures can be taken to overcome it.

In the first place the fluff of superfluous youthful energy is somewhat lessened. This does not mean that you have to take to a wheelchair or that you do not have plenty of energy left for everything you want to do, unless you are unhappy because you cannot play basketball or become a high jump champion.

It does mean that any physical weaknesses you had all along may begin to give you trouble, that abuses which you could weather in earlier years you now find dim your days.

The glandular system shows down. The chances are that you have gained weight and take little exercise. It is lucky that folks at middle age have these warnings because those who live to a vital old age are the ones who take these hints from nature to heart, and follow an individual routine through life which was planned for them at middle age. Actually many of the men and women who live to a youthful old age were in poor health at middle age and had to take their schedules seriously.

During these years some women are more emotional because of temporary hormone imbalance. They should ask their doctors for help with hormone therapy. Men may not understand the problem of their wives and may also be weary themselves from the battle for financial security. This may add up to unhappy home relationships.

Whether consciously or unconsciously both sexes are apt to look back, to take stock of themselves, of their accomplishments and their happiness. While they probably have many years left on this earth, quite a lot of water has gone under the bridge and the long road ahead, when there was still time to accomplish or experience anything in the heart's desire, is rapidly shortening.

At this age men have usually either achieved success so that the challenge is not so great or they have given up the hope for what they had expected to achieve. Many women are left at sea when their children grow up and leave home.

So, middle age is a time of readjustment. It should be a time of looking for new goals, of fitting the sails to the wind, a time when life is most exciting and most adjustable to individual tastes and self expression.

A whole new phase in living is introduced, probably the most exciting of all. At this time folks are emotionally mature if they are ever going to be. They should enjoy living. They should have learned what warms their hearts and supplies stimulation and what is ill spent energy.

A stole is fine cover-up but practice in front of the mirror until you get the right effect with it. It should not be worn in a U shape hanging down the back nor is it meant as a muffler around the throat.

For Colds use lemon and soda

Put the juice of one lemon in a half glass of water and add ½ teaspoon bicarbonate of soda (baking soda). Take this excellent neutraliser several times a day to help reduce acidity and relieve discomfort.

PTA NEWS

McKenzie Avenue—A social and get-acquainted party will be held for parents and teachers this evening at 8 in McKenzie Avenue School. Arrangements and plans for the coming bazaar will be discussed.

Victoria West—A country fair, sponsored by Victoria West PTA, will be held Friday at 7 p.m. in the school. Convener will be Mrs. W. W. Jenkins, and co-convener Mrs. P. Durell. Stalls featuring sewing, candy contests, home cooking, mystery parcels, fish pond, white elephant, bingo, hot dogs, coffee and pop are planned. There will also be movies shown.

Tillamook—At a meeting of Tillamook PTA, Dr. W. W. McLuhan, chairman of the fluoridation committee of the Victoria Dental Society, addressed the audience on the merits of fluoridation of the municipal water supply. He based his speech on the research work of the American and Canadian departments of health, and medical and dental associations. Details of the fall fair, to be held Nov. 10, were completed.

The most commonly known type of process cheese is that made from cheddar or other hard cheese. It may not contain more than 43 per cent moisture which is about 10 per cent more than in cheddar itself. To make this processed cheese, cheddar or other hard cheese is ground blended and pasteurized, then poured into the package to harden.

West Leading East In Home Building

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Western Canada this year is outstripping the East in rate of housing construction and at least one western city is experiencing an apartment building rash.
But clearance of slums and depressed areas across the country still is moving slowly, a survey by the Canadian Press shows.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Sue Baker
(Mother of 5)
Nice excerpt of a letter from a brand-new grandmother to her daughter: "Read and heed all the baby-care rules you can. But use your head when you apply them to your baby. All rules do not necessarily suit all babies... and any rule is only as good as its stretching power. Above all, let your heart take the lead from time to time. Mother-love may not show up in inches and ounces, but it sure makes a baby grow and glow inside."

5 in 1 for a solid start. When baby's ready for solid food—usually cereal at first—you'll find Gerber's Cereals helpful for that first try with textured food. A selection from Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and Mixed Cereal, make it ever so easy to offer baby variety. All are enriched with the supplementary iron, calcium and B-vitamins baby needs shortly after birth. All are pre-cooked and ready to serve. Simply add milk, formula or other liquids. Result: a smooth, good-tasting texture—bland but distinctive flavors.

Introductory note. Allow 4 or 5 days sampling for each cereal so baby has a chance to get used to each individual flavor.

Bath chat. Why not salvage squares from dad's discarded T-shirts for the softest most absorbent baby washcloths ever?

Full schedule. Once baby is on a full food schedule you'll find he'll enjoy the wide variety of Gerber's Strained Foods. There are 31 good-tasting fruits, vegetables, vegetable-meat dinners, meats and desserts to make for continued mealtime zeal. All prepared with extra-special care to preserve appetizing colors, true-to-nature flavors and wholesome food values. Baby will also enjoy the smooth, pureed texture that feels ever so nice. NURSE'S AID—Science has come up with this answer to the national shortage of hospital nurses. It's a monitor scope which enables one nurse to sit at a desk and look into each room, checking the patients. Images of the rooms rotate on the screen at regular intervals. With switches at left of scope she controls the cameras in the various rooms, and she can talk to the patients through the speaker. A patient can have privacy by switching off the camera and speaker in his room. The device was shown recently at the American Hospital Show in Atlantic City, N.J.

Atom Bomb Decision His, Truman Writes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former president Truman says that when he fired Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce he feared Wallace would "knowingly or not" lend himself to supporting the "sinister ends of the Reds and those who served them."

In the current issue of his memoirs, published in Life magazine, the former president also defends his decision to use the atomic bomb against the Japanese.

"The final decision of where and when to use the atomic bomb was up to me. Let there be no mistake about it. I regarded the bomb as a military weapon and never had any doubt that it should be used."

Truman gives some fresh insights on his 1946 dismissal of Wallace after the cabinet officer—who later ran against him as a third-party candidate with Communist support—made a speech critical of the administration's policy toward Russia. He says he called Wallace to his office and:

"I told him that he would always be free to speak his mind to me but that when he turned to the American public to criticize the American foreign policy he was to use the name of the United States. I have never doubted Henry Wallace's sincerity or honesty of purpose, but after this conversation I was afraid that, knowingly or not, he would lend himself to the more sinister ends of the Reds and those who served them."

Butter Export

EDMONTON (CP)—Possible export of 10,000,000 pounds of surplus Canadian butter to Europe is under consideration. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today in an interview.

However, he said on his arrival here, he is unable at present to disclose the price or to whom the butter will be sold. It was purchased at 58 cents a pound under the federal government's butter stockpile policy.

More Immigrants From BWI Urged Upon Canada, Australia

LONDON (AP)—A former British cabinet minister says he would like to see Canada and Australia place fewer obstacles in the way of immigrants from the British West Indies.

Patrick Gordon Walker, secretary of state for Commonwealth relations in the labor government of 1950-51, argues that both countries say they want English-speaking settlers, but spread no welcome mat for West Indians.

"I think they would make good citizens," said Gordon Walker, who visited the islands last July as leader of a seven-member British parliamentary delegation. He also says he is disappointed that some of the old trade links between Canada and the West Indies seem to be disappearing.

SKILLS PREFERRED

Australia excludes West Indians under a "white Australia" policy. Canadian immigration officials in London say any West Indians are free to apply to go to Canada. Those with close relatives in Canada or special skills get preference. In the first six months of 1955, West Indians settling in Canada totaled 267 compared with 365 in the first six months of 1954.

Gordon Walker, who made his comments in an interview, noted that the flow of West Indian immigrants to Britain is swiftly gaining impetus. The total in 1954 was some 10,500 more than the total for the seven previous years. This year the number may reach 15,000, creating the possibility of housing and social problems.

The color-bar problem is just about solved.
The islands are ripe for self-government. (When the mooted British Caribbean federation becomes a reality, perhaps late next year, the colonies will take a large step toward this goal.)

VANISHING LINKS

Traditional links between Canada and the West Indies seem to be vanishing. "Canada has a big investment in bauxite in British Guiana, but elsewhere I had the feeling that not much Canadian capital is going into the islands, and there appears to be less trade."

PAY YOUR LIGHT AND PHONE BILLS

Gordon Walker feels the growing rate of immigration into Britain may become an awkward problem. The "habit" of immigration is spreading from one island to another. He was surprised to note that although poverty is the main-spring of the movement of population, it seems to be mainly those who are fairly well off who emigrate.

Gordon Walker, 48, has standing as an authority on Commonwealth and colonial questions. His special interest in the West Indies may arise partly from the fact that his wife, Audrey, comes from there.

West Indian immigration has aroused considerable attention. A TREE CRISP Apple Pie

Pastry for 9-inch pie.
7 cups thinly sliced B. C. apples
1 cup sugar 1 tablespoon butter
Prepare pastry. Wipe, quarter, core, peel and slice apples, then measure. Arrange apples in layers in pastry-lined deep 9-inch pie plate. Sprinkle each layer with sugar. Dot top layer with small pieces of butter. Cover with top crust. Place pie on lowest rack in oven preheated to 450 degrees F. (very hot oven). Bake for 10 minutes then reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) and bake for 30 to 35 minutes longer. Delicious served warm or cold.

TREE CRISP Apple Roll

Roll out biscuit dough to 1/2 inch thickness. Spread with layer of diced apples, sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll like jelly roll, cut into 1-inch slices, and place slices cut-side down in good-sized greased baking pan.
Make a sauce by mixing together 2 cups brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter and 2 cups boiling water. Stir until sugar is dissolved and sauce is smooth. Pour over the pinwheel slices and bake in moderately hot oven (375 F.) for about 25 minutes.

TREE CRISP Cinnamon Apples

1 cup water
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 or 2 drops red food coloring
3-inch stick cinnamon
6 medium-sized apples
Make syrup of water, sugar, vinegar, coloring and spice, simmer 5 minutes. Add peeled, cored and halved apples. Cook gently until barely tender, turning and basting during cooking.
Remove from syrup and serve hot or cold. Apples will become somewhat darker when chilled. Serves 6.

Ex-Boss of 'Black Front' Strasser Heads New Party

FRANKFURT (AP)—Otto Strasser, once leader of the Nazi Black Front, announced this week he will head a new political party in West Germany—"The People's Movement for Unity and Peace."

Strasser came back from Canada last March after 22 years in exile. 10 of them at Bridgetown, N. S. For plotting with him to overthrow Hitler, his brother, Gregor, was slain in the Nazi party blood purge in 1934.

"The new party will seek the reunification of Germany through a policy of armed neutrality," Strasser said.

"It is being organized because the foreign political situation threatens the permanent division of Germany."

The "League for Germany's Renewal," which Strasser set up from abroad as a political pressure group, will adopt the new party's name and furnish the officials for party committees in the nine West German states.

Princess Given Album Of Victoria Pictures

Wives Presented To Royal Visitor

By PETE LOUDON

Victoria City Hall shone with new elegance Tuesday for the visit of the Princess Royal.

As the princess' limousine halted by a specially constructed royal blue awning sheltering the hall entrance, the band of HMCS Naden played the first bars of "The Queen."

Two pipers, both city employees, played a slow march as the royal party trod a red carpet into the main lobby.

Flowers banked both sides of the lobby, many of them grown in Victoria parks. The long city hall stairway which leads to the council chamber was draped along its length with bunting. The upper hall too was like a woodland path, with sprays of autumn leaves, long-armed fern and more baskets of flowers, mostly chrysanthemums. Nothing tired, dull or dingy showed through to the royal view.

As the princess, escorted by the mayor and her entourage, stepped into the council chamber, the pipers stood aside. Her Royal Highness turned and faced the gallery, filled for the occasion by civic officials and elected representatives of Greater Victoria, and their wives.

Within the railing which separates the council desks from the public seats, aldermen, and members of adjoining municipalities, and their wives waited to be presented.

ALBUM PRESENTED
Everyone stood during the length of the visit. City clerk Frank Hunter read the civic address which was later presented to the princess on an illuminated scroll, backed with pure Morocco leather. She was also given a leather-bound album of photographs of this area.

After the presentations and some moments chatting with those who had been presented, the princess signed the visitors' book, using the same pen and table used in 1939 by her brother, the late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth and also by the present queen and her husband during the royal tour of 1951.

Princess Mary commented on a picture of Queen Victoria which hangs at the front of the hall, then admired the flowers, five large baskets of which were a background for the ceremony.

As the pipers led the party from the hall, the princess paused to speak with her guard of honor.

CHATS WITH INSPECTOR

It was comprised of civic employees who are veterans and whose chests shone with rows of medals. The princess singled out bicycle licence inspector Stan James for a word or two about his regiments in two wars.

A crowd of about 500 pressed close, swelled by school children who had arrived after the ceremony began.

The return to Government House was met by about 600 guides, hangers and brownies who paraded not only for royalty but for chief of the world guide movement, Lady Baden-Powell. The princess, as president of the Commonwealth Girl Guides, chatted later with Lady Baden-Powell.

Brownie Wendy Ramsfield, 10, of Sooke, presented a bouquet to the royal guest, who was also greeted by Mrs. W. S. Emmerton, camp commissioner for B.C.

Also presented were Mrs. F. Midgley, area commissioner for Greater Victoria, and Mrs. Max Wright, provincial commissioner.

Potato Anti-Dumping Duty Kiernan Target

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will press for anti-dumping duties on U.S. potatoes entering the Canadian market when he attends the dominion-provincial agriculture conference in Ottawa Dec. 6 and 7.

"What is required, is an amendment to anti-dumping legislation, so that when a commodity, such as potatoes, is offered in our market below the cost of production, a graduated scale of tariffs would be applied," said the minister.

He said the graduated tariff scale would bring the cost of the commodity up to the known cost of production.

"Those figures are available," said Mr. Kiernan.

LITTLE PROTECTION

At present, Canadian, and particularly B.C. potato growers have little or no tariff protection. For six weeks each year $7.50 a ton is applied to U.S. potatoes, to give Canadian growers a chance to capture some of the early market.

For the remainder of the year, U.S. potatoes enter tariff-free.

"But they get around that six weeks," said the minister, "by stocking up ahead of time. It doesn't mean a thing."

Canadian potatoes entering the U.S. pay a stiff tariff, $7.50 a ton until 1,000,000 bushels of table potatoes, and 2,500,000 bushels of seed potatoes, have crossed the border.

After that quota is filled "and it doesn't take very long," the tariff mounts to $15 a ton.

Mr. Kiernan said he anticipated federal government action on potato tariffs at the next session of Parliament.

"But we will press for action at the December conference, as we have done for the past three years."

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

Air Force Shift Inexpedient Now

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—An "agonizing reappraisal" of the role of the RCAF air division in Europe has been postponed for the time being.

The problem, as External Affairs Minister Pearson put it recently, is that military strategy has out-paced political strategy.

Militarily speaking, the government would like to bring the 12 sabre jet squadrons in France and Germany back to Canada because it feels the main threat now to the entire NATO area is air onslaught against North America.

But, politically speaking, that can't be done now.

VISIBLE STRENGTH

Mr. Pearson said it is important that the physical evidence of Canada's co-operation in NATO—the air division and one infantry brigade—be maintained in Europe for the Europeans to see. It has frequently been said here, privately, of course, that Canada's brigade in Germany is a political brigade.

Officials say that the psychological factor for Europeans—the presence of American and Canadian forces there—is probably more important to the cohesion of NATO than possibly better defence placed farther away in the NATO area.

Canada, in any event, would be unlikely to pull out the air division without the approval of its NATO partners.

Mr. Pearson has said that there is no reason to believe that NATO forces will be shifted around soon or that such a shift will be brought up at the Paris meeting of the NATO council in December.

But, he added, it is something that will have to be kept in mind.

SHIFTING EMPHASIS

The Canadian government is anxious to have its European partners realize that North America is becoming an increasingly important defence area within NATO and that there is a growing defence burden for this continent. North America is considered to be the only base from which a devastating and swift atomic counterblow could be made against Russia.

All this indicates that any decision to withdraw the air division is probably two or three years away.

And it is difficult to forecast what strategy will be in the next few years because of the rapid development of weapons systems, particularly guided missiles.

TRAFFIC JUDGE HURT
NEW YORK (AP)—A veterinarian at Belmont Park said Monday that the three-year-old colt Traffic Judge suffered a serious injury during the running of the Hawthorne Gold Cup Saturday at Chicago and probably would be out of training for a week to 10 days.

Funeral Today For Victoria-Born Mrs. M. L. Reid

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Louise Reid, 72, were scheduled at 3 p.m. today at Hayward's Funeral Home.

Mrs. Reid, a native Victorian and a member of one of the early Victoria families, died at St. Joseph's Hospital Monday.

Her grandfather arrived here in 1853, farmed in Saanich and later served with the Victoria fire department. Her grandfather was Edmund Williams; her father, Alfred Williams, helped construct the Legislative Buildings.

Mrs. Reid is survived by her husband, William George, at home; two daughters, Muriel Reid and Mrs. Phyllis Pennock, both of the city; one brother, Alfred Williams, Vancouver, and two grandchildren. Burial will be in Ross Bay Cemetery in the family plot.

GM STRIKE CUTS SALES 10% IN OSHAWA SHOPS

OSHAWA, Ont. (BUP)—Retail merchants said today the month-long General Motors strike had caused a 10 per cent drop in sales and predicted it will be worse if the strike continued.

The strike also was hitting employment in sales and other fields.

Norman Hodgson, manager of the Oshawa unemployment office, said industrial plants feeding parts to General Motors were laying off some of their workers.

SUFFERING, NEEDY AIDED

Saintly Work Carried On With Chest Help

Back in the early 1600s it was called the "confrerie de charite," an association that ministered to the poor and sick.

In modern guise it's the St. Vincent de Paul Society, active in Victoria since 1915 and throughout the world since 1833.

The society here, administered free of charge by persons interested in the spiritual as well as material aspects of work with the suffering and needy, is almost entirely dependent on the Community Chest.

Of every $100 collected in the current drive for $210,000, the St. Vincent de Paul Society will receive $1.20.

St. Vincent himself was ordained a priest in 1600, captured by pirates, sold as a slave, escaped, and because of his sufferings grew even more sympathetic to persons in trouble. He started a hospital for galley slaves, homes for foundlings and similar cardinal works of mercy.

His spirit is still alive today, right here.

NO PAY

At no time has any society member received paid remuneration. The organization's president in Victoria, A. F. Ritz, works in the dockyard; the secretary, Miss M. E. McPherson, is a provincial government employee.

The provision of foster homes for children is one of the major aims of the society, located at 740 View. Monthly reports are turned in to the Community Chest, proving that 100 per cent of funds received go to the people who need help.

Last year medical expenses, fuel and rent were paid to worthy people who had financial reverses; over 4,000 quarts of milk were placed on doorsteps to help children who, due to money troubles of parents, were not getting necessary milk; more than 1,000 meals were provided the hungry, and 150 persons bedded down in local hotels free of charge.

SAINTLY WORK

The society works closely with the Family and Children's Service, and often has cases referred to it by the FCS. Though primarily a Roman Catholic organization, the society, in the Medical-Care Tax Vote Scheduled In Prairie Towns

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP)—A compulsory medical care plan supported mostly by taxes has been approved by municipalities within the Weyburn-Estevan Health region. It was reported Tuesday.

Ratepayers among the region's 55,000 residents will be asked to vote on the issue next spring.

H. A. Spencer, the region's board chairman, told a meeting of 25 municipal officials that the plan's estimated first-year revenue of $768,692, personal taxes, would provide $722,155 and the rest would come from Saskatchewan government grants. The region expects a surplus of $24,832.

'Much Improved' Sinclair Still Confined to Bed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fisheries Minister James Sinclair will undergo blood tests today to determine how soon he can be discharged from Vancouver General Hospital, where he has been confined with jaundice since Sept. 25.

Alistair Fraser, executive assistant to the minister, said Tuesday that Mr. Sinclair was still confined to his bed but much improved since his arrival here from a tour of Russia and Red China.

Mr. Sinclair is also recovering from back and leg injuries suffered when a scaffolding collapsed during his Russian tour.

Proudfoot Heads Welfare Council Planning Group

Reorganization of a central planning committee on problems of the aged has been announced by Community Welfare Council of Victoria.

At a meeting last week, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot was named chairman and Col. R. B. Longridge, vice-chairman. A future project will be extension of housing services for aged couples similar to the Kiwanis Village.

Sub-committees are to be named for home visiting, recreation, housekeeping, home nursing, personal counseling and the housing problem. Home visiting and housekeeping volunteers will be registered.

The following persons were named to the new committee: Dr. Henrietta Anderson, Dr. Marian Sherman, Miss J. E. M. Bruce, Miss Marjorie Baird, Miss Bessie Riddell and David Woodworth. Secretary is Miss Dorothy King. The Community Welfare Council is a member of the Community Chest of Greater Victoria.

VANCOUVER (CP)—First building in Canada owned, operated and designed solely for the rehabilitation of arthritis sufferers was opened Tuesday night.

The building is the $60,000 British Columbia head office of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

The sparkling new building, with a 2,500 square foot ground floor space, stems from a quiet beginning of C.A.R.S. here in 1948.

The first office was one room

No Ti-Cat Doll
HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton will not be represented by a Miss Tiger-Cat in the annual Miss Grey Cup contest this year. Ti-Cat officials said the Big Four football club does not feel financially able to send an entrant to the contest to be held in Vancouver this year. They said it would cost $1,000 for the trip.

VANCOUVERITE SHOTS SELF WITHOUT GUN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Albert Moffat, 32, was shot and wounded without a gun in his downtown hotel room early today.

Police said the man apparently was heating the end of a bullet with a match when it exploded, wounding him in the right wrist, left shoulder, and abdomen.

Taken to hospital, Moffat disappeared before doctors could remove the shell fragments.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

District Notes: Queen Scouts of the district will turn out to form a guard of honor for Lady Baden-Powell at the Armories on Wednesday at 5.30. Scouter Frank Nelson will be in charge of the party.

On Thursday evening a number of Scouts will attend a meeting at Duncan to hear J. L. McGregor, executive commissioner for training, from Canadian headquarters, Ottawa.

Groups wanting to have a "scouting explained" course conducted for their group may do so by contacting headquarters, 1034 Johnson street.

WINDSOR PARK GROUP: Between 40 and 50 ladies turned out for the ladies' auxiliary meeting of the group. Executive commissioner Bob Milks was the guest speaker.

Assistant Cub Commissioner Francis Naish paid a visit to "B" pack meeting, running several games for the boys.

NORTH QUADRA GROUP: A "scouting explained" course was held Monday, conducted by Scouters Frank Nelson and Art Chamberlain. Mrs. Cynthia Hiron was presented with a gift by the committee in recognition of her services with the Cub pack. Jim Ridings was presented with the Scout Thanks badge for his work as chairman for a number of years.

SIDNEY GROUP: The annual meeting of the group was held at the church on Monday. The group was presented with a gift by the committee in recognition of her services with the Cub pack. Jim Ridings was presented with the Scout Thanks badge for his work as chairman for a number of years.

meeting of the committee was held, with all officers returned for another year. Leaders are wanted for the Scout troop. Excellent reports from both Cub packs were given. A Rover crew is to be started in the near future. District Scouters Winnie Bennett and Jim Redwood attended. Movies on the jamboree were run, showing the activities of district boys.

PROSPECT LAKE: Plans in the near future. It will be held in conjunction with the Girl Guides and the PTA. The troop is planning a visit to the Chinese troop meeting.

DEEP COVE: The group held its first father and son banquet at the Church Hall. Guest speaker was District Akela Winnie Bennett, who presented Cubmaster Russell Ridge with his preliminary training certificate. Scouter Ridge received a lighter as a gift from the Cub and from the group committee. Mrs. Ridge was presented with a corsage by Mrs. William Todd, chairman of the ladies' auxiliary. The Ridges are moving to Duncan.

JAMES ISLAND PACK: Brian Rivers was invested as a Wolf Cub by Akela Wallace Bond, who in turn, with Assistant Cubmaster Raymond Reeves were presented with their training certificates by the district Akela.

BRENTWOOD: The Scout group took part in the community fair held in the Badminton Hall. Scouts ran a dart and bow and arrow show and operated a pop stall.

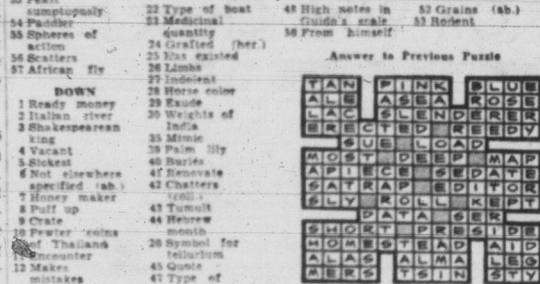

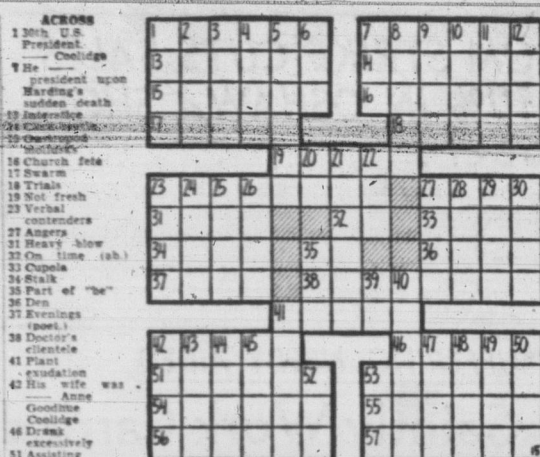

THIRD VICTORIA: Patrol leaders of the troop visited the pack meeting to get acquainted with the Cub boys who will be going on to the troop at the next meeting. Robin Como was invested as a Wolf Cub. Jungle work was carried out. At the troop meeting, special projects of res-work were carried out, taking the form of a gas or bomb explosion.

CHINESE GROUP: The pack was visited by district Akela Ward. During the evening special jungle displays were made. The troop held a "Be Prepared Stunt," putting into practice what they would do if marooned on an island among hostile natives surrounded by water infested with man-eating fish and without a boat.

CADBORO BAY: The committee held its election of officers. W. T. Rice being elected chairman; A. J. Crawford and Fred Earthy, secretary and treasurer. A vote of thanks was given to R. H. Muirhead, the retiring chairman.

ROYAL OAK: Parents are asked to attend the special meeting called for Wednesday evening, Oct. 19, at 8.15 in the Scout Hall, when it will be decided if the group be disbanded or not.

PARKVILLE GROUP: A special movie night was held when pictures taken by Scouter

'His Touch So Soft His Breath Seemed to Move the Harmonies'

By TONY DICKSON

It is refreshing to meet fine minds through the catalyst of a musician.

Jan Cherniavsky, pianist, performed this unatonic miracle here Tuesday night. Close to 1,000 hushed persons met Mozart, Bach, Debussy and Chopin. One of the most striking thoughts that occurred during the performance is all is not lost when people almost fill a theatre to hear a piano played. Beauty and its bed-mate, appreciation, are still around despite cement and test tubes.

Mr. Cherniavsky's touch was as gentle as a drifting petal. He's almost a dramatist with arms and hands, and approaches the piano as if he was stroking a bank manager; a truly accomplished pianist, who pleased.

In the crescendo passages, Mr. Cherniavsky's left leg shoots back to brace for the attack. He hunches over the keyboard, in appearance almost devout.

SOFT TOUCH
In the delicate passages, it seemed the pianist's breath moved the harmonies, so soft was the touch.

One sat, twisting fingers, wondering why talent stopped elsewhere.

During the four Chopin selections, a nocturne, a fantasia, a polonaise and a scherzo, we wondered if his friends called him Fred.

In the Debussy renditions, Mr. Cherniavsky submerged a cathedral, set off fireworks and tickled a goldfish—all musically, of course, names of selections being what they are.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Cuckoo Clocks) A (Don't Miss) BB (Wardrobe) B (For Rainy Days) C (To put in time)

(BB) "THE GOOD DIE YOUNG" (Dominion): Richard MacAuley's novel "The Good Die Young" concerns four individuals in London who, although strangers at first, become thrown together by fate into crime and violence.

There is the fighter whose career is washed up when he has his hand amputated after an accident in the ring; there is the airman with the actress wife who dabbles with other men; there is the earnest young American trying vainly to get his British wife to fly with him to the U.S. to escape her domineering mother; and last, but not least, there is a war hero who has married his beautiful artist wife for her money.

ALL THESE YOUNG MEN Need money for different reasons. The fighter can't get a job and wants money to open up a small shop; the airman, AWOL, needs money for domestic purposes; the American needs it to fly his wife to the U.S., and the war hero needs it to pay off gambling debts and to live on his own without having to toe the line for his wealthy wife.

So far, all very interesting. Perhaps we are too idealistic. But when the vicious wastrel, the war hero, suggests to the others that they combine forces and hold up the post office truck and rob it of its notes destined for the Bank of England, it is too much to expect that they agree to the plan because most of the play up until then has shown them all to be very honorable young men; down and out but highly principled. How, then, is it likely they are able to change their characters like a chameleon its colors at the instant? Not likely, we feel. Therefore, the comparatively low rating.

NONETHELESS, THE ACTING by principals—Margaret Leighton, Robert Morley, Laurence Harvey, Gloria Grahame and the balance of the cast is of high order. There is also a certain brooding villainy to the story, especially in its closing chapters, that makes for good entertainment.

TREKS RECALLED

UBC Alumni Reunion Set Nov. 4 at Sirocco

Annual reunion dance of UBC Alumni Association, Victoria branch, will be held in Club Sirocco Nov. 4, marking 25th anniversary of the Arts Class of 1930, and highlighting two famous student treks.

In 1922 UBC students trekked seven miles from university shacks in Fairview to the present site of UBC on Point Grey, stimulating completion of university buildings.

A similar march was made here in 1946 from Craigdarroch Castle, home of Victoria College, to the legislative building, causing the government to move the college to its present location at the Normal School.

Decorations for the informal dance will emphasize these themes and are being made by art students at Lansdowne Junior High School. A detailed mural 14 feet long will depict the Great Trek of 1922.

Membership in the alumni association is also open to anyone who took courses at either institution, even though they did not graduate, association branch president W. H. Gaddes points out.

Arts '30 graduates planning to attend are asked to contact Dr. Harry Hickman at 4-3309.

Special guests will be honorary president Ray Williston, B.C. education minister, and Mrs. Williston.

UP and AP Dispatches

CHICAGO—A giant manhunt covered Chicago today for the sex maniac or teen-aged hoodlums who strangled three young boys and left their nude bodies stacked like cordwood in a ditch.

The mangled bodies of the victims, three "wonderful" home-loving boys, lay in the county morgue.

John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton Jr., 11, had been strangled by hand. Their friend, 13-year-old Robert Peterson, had been viciously beaten on the head and strangled with a tie or rope.

The clothes of all three boys had been ripped from them and marks showed their eyes, mouths and hands had been taped. An autopsy has revealed they weren't sexually assaulted.

All three victims were clean-cut youngsters with close-cropped hair, who dressed neatly in jeans and jackets with emblems proclaiming that they were baseball fans of Chicago, White Sox and Chicago Cubs.

Search for Sex Maniac

A man identified as an unemployed school teacher was held by police for questioning early today after he was named in an anonymous telephone call. The man lives five blocks from the Schuessler home, but police said he denied any connection with the murder and offered to take a lie test.

Chicago police, leaning to wards the sex maniac theory, also searched for a middle-aged man who took two teen-aged boys for a ride Sunday night after meeting them in a bowling alley.

It was by far one of the worst crimes in Chicago's history. The only comparable cases were the murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb almost 30 years ago and the slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan by William Heirens in 1946. But those murders only claimed single victims—this time it was three.

Bodies Piled Like Firewood

The boys' bodies were found shortly after noon Tuesday, piled on top of each other in a forest preserve ditch near a parking lot. They had apparently been killed shortly after they were last seen in a bowling alley Sunday night.

A small army of city and county policemen searched for clues in Robinson's woods, located outside the city's northwest limits, through the night and into the early morning hours. The hunt intensified at daybreak, with 100 officers, stationed only four or five feet apart, moving through the brushland, guards and road blocks isolating the area.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron called the killings "the work of a madman" or a gang of older boys. He theorized from marks and dirt on the bodies that the boys were held captive in "some filthy place," bound and gagged with strips of adhesive tape and then dumped in the forest preserve.

The oldest boy had been slashed across the head 15 times with what appeared to have been an axe or a hunting knife.

Wheat Loans Authorized By Cabinet

1951 System Revived
Effective Nov. 15

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe today announced that government-guaranteed loans will be made available to western grain farmers through the banks starting about Nov. 15.

Mr. Howe said negotiations with the banks now are under way to make lending arrangements similar to those in 1951, the last time the government backed loans to producers with farm-held grain used as security.

When arrangements have been completed, a further detailed announcement will be made, he said.

Mr. Howe's announcement followed a cabinet meeting where ministers discussed the urgency of providing western grain farmers with much-needed cash and agreed to guarantee bank loans on farm-held grain.

MAXIMUM OF $1,000
Under the 1951 federal legislation, farmers were able to borrow up to a maximum of $1,000 each with unthreshed grain on their farms as security. The government guaranteed repayment of 25 per cent of the loan, placing a ceiling of $20,000,000 on the total loans which could be made under the scheme. The interest rate was 5 1/2 per cent.

Farmers actually borrowed only $625,000, with some complaining that the interest rate was too high and that they experienced difficulty with the banks in negotiating these loans. Only about 1,500 farmers borrowed under the scheme.

APPEALED FOR AID
A prairie delegation, headed by the agriculture ministers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, appealed to Mr. St. Laurent on Oct. 11, for federal assistance to western farmers unable to market huge quantities of grain still on their farms.

They argued that interest rates should be reduced, if not eliminated, if it were decided to revive the 1951 bank-loan system.

The delegation said that unless farmers are able to get some cash soon the prairie economy may be hurt.

U.S. to Call 84 UN Nations To Atoms Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States announced plans today to call an 84-nation conference to make final plans for an international agency to govern the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.) told the United Nations main political committee that the United States and the other original sponsors of the "atoms-for-peace" program first suggested by President Eisenhower in 1953 had revised a draft resolution to provide for such a conference.

Pastore told the 60-nation committee that no comments on the draft statute would be rejected "without careful consideration." He said the sponsoring governments would be willing to take a second step "to invite all the members of the U.N. or of the specialized agencies (84 in all) to a conference on the final text of the statute of the agency."

Calling such a conference would cause some delay in the establishment of the agency, Pastore said, but "in the interest of launching the agency with as wide support as possible, we believe that some sacrifice of time would be justified."

U.S. Dollar Hits Par With Canadian

DECISIVE MOMENT?

Princess Faces Prelate Tonight

LONDON (AP)—The unfolding romance of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend slowly brings a new figure toward the centre of the stage—a clergyman of stern principle and dry wit.

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, becomes a part of this scene of royal romance by the nature of his ecclesiastical office.

As the senior prelate of the Anglican Church, the archbishop must protect the rules and traditions of that church. And one paramount fact looms above all others—the church frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons while the two parties are still alive. And Townsend, the handsome fighter pilot hero of the Battle of Britain, has been divorced.

This fact could place the princess and the 68-year-old archbishop in opposite camps.

DELICATE BALANCE

This ancient realm consists in a very real sense of a delicate balance of the Crown, the church and Parliament.

Royal duty today separated Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend for the first day since his arrival here last Wednesday from his diplomatic post in Brussels.

The petite princess flew to Wiltshire this morning to present new colors to an infantry battalion of which she is colonel-in-chief.

Townsend today gave newspaper men the slip for the first time since his arrival from Brussels. He emerged soon after 9 a.m. from his temporary home in fashionable Londesborough Square, London, carrying a small suitcase and riding spurs.

He told waiting cameramen he would return later in the day and drove off alone to pursue his favorite hobby, horseback riding.

Tonight the 25-year-old princess and the rest of the Royal Family, including Queen Elizabeth, will dine with the archbishop and all the bishops of the church. This meeting of the princess and the archbishop will take place in Lambeth Palace, the archbishop's red brick home across the Thames from the Houses of Parliament.

Will the romance be discussed? No one can say for certain, except perhaps the princess and the archbishop and they are saying nothing.

What sort of man is the archbishop? He is of medium height, bald with gold rimmed spectacles. He is sternly devoted to duty as he sees it, but his expression is habitually

Premium Loss Seen Aiding Export Trade

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar dropped to par with the American dollar here today, the first time the two currencies have been of equal value since early in 1952.

The Canadian dollar, which had reached its highest point in recent years during August, 1953, when it was quoted in trading here at a premium of 45/16 cents over the U.S. dollar, has been descending in recent months. For the last few weeks it has been less than a cent higher than the U.S. dollar.

U.S. CASHING IN?

Reason given for the decline has been that some United States investors have been cashing in their Canadian holdings and switching to American stocks and bonds.

The reduction in the value of Canadian currency in terms of U.S. money has been welcomed by Canadian exporters whose products thus cost less on world markets. A par dollar is of help in competing with the output of other countries.

IMPORTS COST MORE

For importers the premium dollar worked to advantage. It meant Canadians could buy for less.

Now that the dollar is back at par, the importer will have to pay a little more in Canadian funds for his goods.

CONSUMER MIGHT PAY

Eventually the rise in the importer's bill could seep down to the Canadian consumer. That might cause a slight boost in living costs.

PEGGED DURING WAR

From the beginning of the Second World War to Sept. 30, 1950, the Canadian dollar was pegged at 90 cents U.S. But after the war currency controls in Canada were lifted and the price rose to 95 cents where it remained until December, 1951.

At that time U.S. capital began an influx into Canada and on Jan. 22, 1952, the Canadian dollar reached parity with the U.S. for the first time in 13 years.

The equal status was short-lived and later in 1952 the Canadian dollar climbed again until two years ago when it began slipping back from the recent high mark of 4 5/16 cents premium over U.S. currency.

Many hotels, restaurants and stores in Victoria were accepting U.S. dollars at par value today. Some had already eliminated the one and two cent discount charged to U.S. visitors with the narrowing of the gap between the Canadian and U.S. dollars last week.

Liquor stores, however, were still charging one cent on the U.S. dollar. Previously the charge had been two cents.

"The rate is now liable to be changed but we cannot say when," the manager of one liquor store said.

Victoria branches of the Bank of Nova Scotia were today buying U.S. cheques at 99 1/2, selling at 100 1/2; buying cash at 99 1/2, and selling at 100 1/2. This was a very slight modification of the rate charged last week.

Some city merchants have been changing U.S. dollars at par throughout the summer as a favor to tourists.

France Votes Reform Plan For Algeria

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar

Faure's cabinet today approved an economic reform program for Algeria, the first of many international problems it must try to settle under a new parliamentary mandate.

Strengthened by a 308 to 254 vote of confidence on the Algerian issue in the National Assembly, the cabinet approved setting up a fund to modernize, irrigate and redistribute the land in poverty-stricken Algeria.

One other North African problem appeared on way to solution. The new four-man throne council in Rabat, Morocco, asked Si Fatmi Ben Slimane, a moderate, to become Morocco's first premier. Ben Slimane promptly flew from Paris to Rabat to accept the job.

Cougars Lend Wong

Victoria Cougars today sent defenceman Danny Wong to Three Rivers in the Quebec Hockey League.

Wong will be on loan for the season. Last year he played for Regina Pats.

The move brings the Victoria club down to the required strength.

Toronto Opens Its Purse For Shoplifter's Family

TORONTO (CP)—Benvenuto Trillo and his three motherless children are discovering that Toronto isn't such a bad place after all.

Job offers and financial help for the family have started to come in since Trillo's 35-year-old wife hanged herself in her jail cell on Monday after she and her husband were arrested on a $10 shoplifting charge.

Police discovered the family had been getting along on an income of between $28 and $30 a week.

A construction firm offered Trillo a better paying job, starting immediately.

The proprietor of a clothing store offered to outfit the children with clothes for the winter. A stationery company took up a collection among its employees. In addition, many individual offers of help have come in to the Trillo family from Canada and Italy nine months ago.

Trillo has been working as a bricklayer's helper.

JUDGE IS DOUBTFUL

Woman's Pregnancy Excuse for Thefts

MONTREAL (CP)—A judge today pondered a tearful woman suspect's statement that pregnancy gives her a taste for theft.

After hearing Mrs. Alfred Bosse, attractive 24-year-old housewife, Judge Henri Masson Loranger said Tuesday:

"I want to see her husband because her account implies weakness for shoplifting."

that pregnancy is accompanied by some sort of kleptomania.

Mrs. Bosse, sobbing, had pleaded guilty to theft of $35 worth of baby clothes and toys. She was remanded until today.

Mother of two children, aged two years and eight months respectively, Mrs. Bosse said she is expecting another child and pregnancy gives her a
